4-Inch Snow Forecast For Area Tonight

Colder Temperature Friday May Retain New White Blanket

Light snow began about 5 a. m., calling out district road cindering crews who have had little rest since Feb. 14 — when a 12-inch snow nearly paralyzed the Tri-State District.

Dam 8 at Newell recorded about half an inch of snow by midmorning and the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia said it was over an inch. The fall tapered to flurries at times.

The Ohio weatherman issued a "heavy snow warning."

The new storm coming out of the southwest is expected to spread a 4-inch white frosting on much of the state today.

To add to motorists' miseries and to insure that the new snow sticks around a while, cold northwest winds are expected to start bringing frigid temperatures to Ohio by Friday afternoon.

By Saturday morning, according to the forecast, Ohio temperatures will range from 10 to 15 degrees.

Hearing On Gas Rates Will Open On March 8

The Public Utilities Commission at Columbus today advised Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper it will hold the first hearing March 8 at 10 a. m. on an application filed by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. for rate increases that would affect 43,000 customers in Eastern Ohio, including 11,000 in East Liverpool and Wellsville.

The hearing probably will be adjourned from time to time, extending over a period of weeks, before the PUCO makes its final determination. The application for the rate boost was filed Jan. 4. The company said it would mean a 16 per cent increase for customers who heat their homes with gas.

Eight Ohio Valley communities, including East Liverpool and Wellsville, have banded together to fight the increase. The solicitors of the eight cities and villages were to hold their second meeting on strategy today at noon at the Ft. Steuben Hotel in Steubenville.

Home Opens For County's Young Wards

LISBON — Wednesday was hailed as a "red letter day in Columbiana County" when Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin spoke at a luncheon at the East Palestine Methodist Church, marking the dedication of the Kyes Memorial Children's Receiving Home.

About 78 attended the luncheon at which Atty. Jack H. Cohen spoke on behalf of Roger M. Kyes of Detroit, who donated the N. Market St. family home to the county in memory of his late parents, Lafayette M. and Myra E. Kyes.

Judge Tobin paid tribute to the East Palestine Kiwanis Club for its efforts in obtaining the home for use for children. He also said the home will provide a needed service by caring for children who are suddenly placed into custody of the Welfare Department at early hours of the morning or other times as a result of broken homes.

William T. Allmon of Columbus, assistant director of the Ohio Welfare Department, brought the good wishes of state officials, and praised Judge Tobin for his work, calling him one of the "great juvenile judges in Ohio."

Atty. Cohen said Kyes did not attend the ceremony because he preferred to remember the family home as he lived in it. The large structure has been remodeled and provided with a fire escape, and is capable of caring for 12 young wards.

Four youngsters were kept in the home for a while this week, and a teen-ager had been housed earlier.

Judges Joel H. Sharp and Raymond S. Buzzard, County Welfare Director Robert Bycroft, County Commissioners Max Gard, Frank Wilson and Walter Hunston and other county and state representatives attended the luncheon.

The officials then went to the home where Atty. Cohen present-

Daughter Believes Missing Mother Fits Description Of Body

WEIRTON — The unsolved murder of a woman identified only as the "redhead" was revived Wednesday when a 19-year-old girl who told State Police here that the victim might have been her mother.

The teen-ager wasn't identified by police. But she was quoted that her mother had red hair and fit other descriptions of the woman found dead on May 10, 1950.

The "redhead" was found by Ben Mills of Hancock, Md., while he picked mushrooms near Berkeley Springs in Morgan County. She was estimated to be between 30 and 40.

The woman had been strangled. State Police Cpl. C. S. Burke concluded that the woman was murdered elsewhere and taken to the Berkeley Springs area for disposal.

A Cumberland (Md.) man told authorities after the body was found that it might be his sister, who had been missing. He saw the dead woman and said it wasn't.

The Weirton girl's mother disappeared about the same time the mystery of the "redhead" developed, police quoted the girl.

She said her mother left home when she was about 8 and was never heard from.

Cpl. A. A. Barney of the State Police wouldn't comment. He said the story was being checked.

The Weirton girl's father and his mother reside in Steubenville and they too were questioned.

Italy Again Plunged Into Political Crisis

ROME (AP)—The resignation of Premier Antonio Segni's minority Christian Democratic government plunged Italy today into her 15th—and possibly longest—political crisis in 14 years.

President Giovanni Gronchi begins talks with elder statesmen and political leaders late today or Friday, in search of a man who can patch together another cabinet able to get the support of a majority in the Chamber of Deputies. The Christian Democrats, although Italy's biggest party, are short of a majority by 26 seats.

State Seeks Assurance

$285,000 Asked Of City As Its Share Of Freeway

Council Sets Inquiry Into Fund Source

Late Summer Seen Deadline To Set Up Municipality's Part

By mid-July or early August, the State Highway Department wants assurance from the city that it will be able to furnish its $285,000 share of the construction of a California Hollow-West End Freeway, which will cost a total of $5,700,000 — based on latest estimates, Council and the administration learned Wednesday night.

The figures were furnished by William McKenna, head of the Division 11 Highway Department office at New Philadelphia, who explained that the state generally requests that the city's share of such a project be paid before the call for contractors' bids is issued.

He emphasized, however, that all the estimates are approximate, since both the state's cost and the city's share will depend ultimately on the contract price.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet told McKenna that the city could give no immediate answer to a question involving such a large sum of money. At his suggestion, Council scheduled a meeting Monday night at 7:30 to talk over the problem.

"It is going to take quite a bit of deliberation before we can give a definite answer," the mayor said. "We can't reach up in the air for such a large sum of money."

In addition to the mayor and McKenna, the conference in the mayor's office brought together Robert Jenkins, engineer in charge of location and design in Division 11; Engineer George S. Bloomgren; Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver; Council President Charles N. Edwards and Councilmen Donald S. Hancock, John A. Melvin, Donald E. Smith and Clifford J. Cooper.

The city will have an overall investment of about $400,000 in the freeway. As another part of its contribution toward the cost of the Officer Given Payless Year

Suspension Decreed For Samuel Hayes

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver today decreed a year's suspension without pay for Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes on the grounds he is "incompetent" to perform his police department duties after losing his driver's license under the Ohio Financial Responsibility Law as a result of a crash in which his car was involved.

The director handed Hayes a letter with official notice of the suspension, but advised him verbally there is a possibility his case may be reopened to consider his reinstatement before the end of the year if he complies with the state law, obtains his driver's license again and settles the damage to the other car in the accident.

Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi ordered an indefinite suspension for Hayes Saturday after learning his driver's license was suspended, effective Jan. 5, by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Since the officer could not operate a car, he could not perform his duties, the chief pointed out in a letter to Hayes.

The director held a hearing for Hayes Tuesday, but deferred his decision until today. Until his ruling today, no definite suspension time had been set.

The chief said Hayes' auto, driven by an unidentified friend, was involved in a collision Aug. 3 on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road" with a car driven by Samuel Renforth of Mingo Junction. Reports to the BMV said Hayes' car was a total loss and there was $233 damage to the Renforth vehicle. The chief said he did not learn of Hayes' license suspension until Feb. 13.

Pennsylvania Wife Indicates 'Nervousness'

Police Seek Reason Why Slain Man Killed 4, Wounded 5 In Gun Spree

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Why sharpshooter Daniel Raymond killed four passersby and wounded five others before being shot dead himself remained a mystery today to residents in the nearby mountain community of Chalkhill.

Although Raymond's wife indicated the shooting spree was touched off by his, "nervousness," there were no clear-cut answers.

State police, protected by a tank, cut down the 42-year-old Raymond with a hail of machine gun bullets as he fled his burning home, climaxing a lengthy battle. Incendiary and tear gas bombs lobbed from the tank had set the home afire.

The mountaineer saw a doctor only Feb. 16 because he was nervous, his wife said.

Raymond, a pipeline walker for a natural gas company, had a reputation among the mountain folk in this southwestern Pennsylvania area for being a crack shot. He did his lethal shooting from the second story of his home, located about 50 feet from a rural road.

Before police shut off the road to traffic Raymond fired for nine hours at almost everything that moved—cars and trucks. Only once did he fail to fire at a moving vehicle. This was a school bus carrying about 50 youngsters.

Veteran state troopers hugged the tank as it opened fire. They, too, peppered the house with volley after volley. Finally, the berserk Raymond tried to make a run for it. He ran a few feet, then dropped as the machine gun bullets cut through his body.

Those killed by Raymond were:

Mary Frances Sissler, 61, and Edna Maes, 53, both of Ohiopyle, Pa.; William Burd, 49-year-old highways department worker from Farmington, Pa.; and May Maust of Farmington, Pa.

Wounded were: Harry Cromwell, 31, of Ohiopyle; Lawrence Swenglish, 18, of Haddonville, Pa.; Carlus Maust, 22, husband of Mrs. Maust, and two Maust children, Mary, 3, and Eddie, 18 months.

Police said they probably never will know just what triggered the tragedy although Raymond had been "acting nervous." His wife said he set fire to their living room about 12 hours before the shooting began. She said he doused the fire but she was frightened and took her three children to stay overnight with neighbors.

This was the chain of events as pieced together by police:

Burd and his helper, Robert Richey, drove their cindering truck past the Raymond home about 8 a.m. Raymond shouted at them from a second-story window, asking them to cinder his driveway. Glad to oblige, Richey jumped to the ground to spread the cinders.

Suddenly, Raymond appeared at the window again. He opened fire, hitting Burd twice. Richey dove for cover. Burd managed to start the truck but it crashed into a tree 100 yards away.

Two motorists, George Smalley, 30, and Joseph Pickens, went to Burd's aid. They were not hit by Raymond. Burd died en route to a hospital.

Swenglish was hit next as a shot pierced his windshield. A fire truck with volunteers braved rifle fire to rescue him. He was in a Pittsburgh hospital where his left eye was removed Wednesday night.

Then along came a car driven by Cromwell. He was shot and his car ground to a halt. He stayed in the car for what he said seemed an eternity. He was in fair condition at a hospital.

Mrs. Maes and Mrs. Sissler were next. Their car apparently went off the road when it was hit by rifle fire. They were shot as they tried to run. Their bodies lay on the road until Raymond was shot to death.

Now came the car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Maust and their two children. A shot rang out. Mrs. Maust collapsed against her husband. She was dead. Then Maust and his children were wounded. The car ground to a halt.

At Least 40 May Be Dead As Planes Hit

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A U.S. Navy DC4 and a Brazilian plane collided today near Sugar Loaf Mountain. The DC4 plummeted into Guanabara Bay. A Brazilian air force spokesman said he believed it had aboard 40 men who were members of a U.S. military band.

The U.S. Navy plane was said to carry the number 13582. Presumably the band was here in connection with President Eisenhower's visit.

The second plane was identified by the Brazilian air force spokesman as a C46 or DC3 of the Real Line, a big domestic carrier in Brazil.

President Eisenhower was in Sao Paulo today when the collision occurred.

Reports from the Rio Yacht Club, near the scene of the collision, said some musical instruments had been pulled from the water along with nine bodies.

A U.S. Marine band came to Rio last week and participated Wednesday in the parade.

Ike Gets Rousing Welcome Despite Rain In Sao Paulo

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—President Eisenhower rode bareheaded in a heavy rain today to acknowledge the acclaim of this booming industrial metropolis. Brazilians danced, jumped and shouted in their enthusiasm over his visit.

Eisenhower flew from Rio de Janeiro under overcast skies to spend 6½ hours in this Brazilian Chicago, 220 miles southwest of Rio. He goes to Argentina Friday.

A drizzling rain started soon after the President's motorcade left the airport. It was a downpour by the time the procession reached the Praza Bandeira, or Flag Plaza, where thousands had gathered to see him. Some had umbrellas, most did not.

Red China Firing Propaganda At Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China is firing its heaviest propaganda guns at President Eisenhower in an all-out effort to discredit his present Latin American tour. The violence of the outburst has startled even some U. S. officials, long accustomed to a steady drumfire from Peiping on any and all American policies.

Considering the weather, it was a big turnout.

Eisenhower on arrival reported he had heard Sao Paulo is the fastest growing city in the world. He said in a brief greeting speech it was a personal pleasure to have the chance to "witness first-hand the mighty achievement of this fabulous community."

Living Costs Showed Drop In January

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower prices for clothing, new cars, eggs and most meats brought a slight decline in living costs in January.

Even so, the index is still just a little under its record high.

And, although down from December, the January living cost level was a record high for a January.

The Labor Department reported today the index dropped one-tenth of one per cent in January to 125.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is the lowest living cost level since September.

Eisenhower flew from Rio de Janeiro under overcast skies to spend 6½ hours in this Brazilian Chicago, 220 miles southwest of Rio. He goes to Argentina Friday.

A drizzling rain started soon after the President's motorcade left the airport. It was a downpour by the time the procession reached the Praza Bandeira, or Flag Plaza, where thousands had gathered to see him. Some had umbrellas, most did not.

Confetti and ticker tape rained down from buildings surrounding the valley in which the central plaza is situated.

Considering the weather, it was a big turnout.

Eisenhower on arrival reported he had heard Sao Paulo is the fastest growing city in the world. He said in a brief greeting speech it was a personal pleasure to have the chance to "witness first-hand the mighty achievement of this fabulous community."

Red China Firing Propaganda At Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China is firing its heaviest propaganda guns at President Eisenhower in an all-out effort to discredit his present Latin American tour. The violence of the outburst has startled even some U. S. officials, long accustomed to a steady drumfire from Peiping on any and all American policies.

Living Costs Showed Drop In January

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower prices for clothing, new cars, eggs and most meats brought a slight decline in living costs in January.

Even so, the index is still just a little under its record high.

And, although down from December, the January living cost level was a record high for a January.

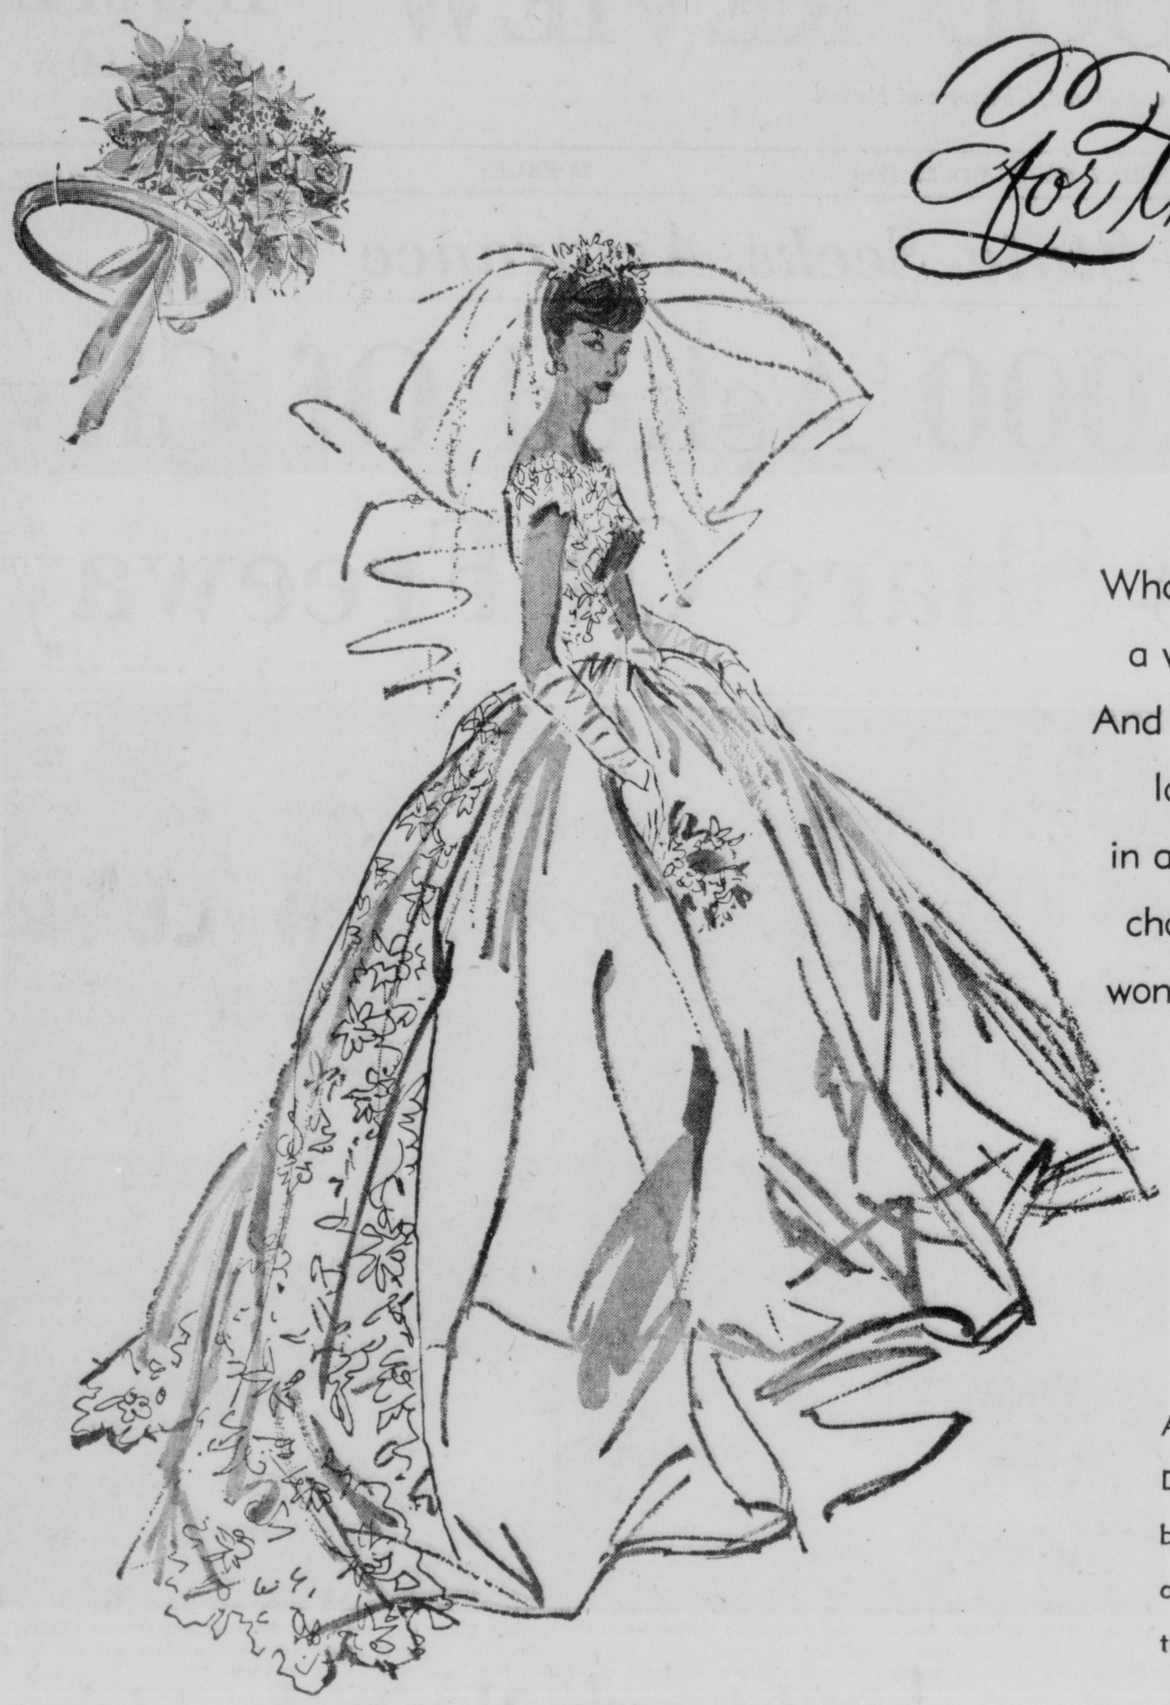

The Labor Department reported today the index dropped one-tenth of one per cent in January to 125.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is the lowest living cost level since September.

Weekly menus are to be submitted to the director, and all food is to be obtained from places authorized by him with the advice and consent of the commissioners.

Meals will be served at 7:30 a. m., noon and 5:30 p. m., with a snack available at 8:30. Children under 12 will be in bed at 9, those older at 10 p. m. A room is to be set aside and furnished as a play and game room.

A monthly report is to be filed by the supervisor and matron to the welfare department, with copies for the commissioners and judge.

There will be no visitations by relatives of the children without the written consent of the director.

The judge meanwhile issued a resolution commending the Kiwanis Club as being instrumental in negotiations resulting in the gift of the home. It "publicly commended the club for its leadership in this civic matter."

'May The Children . . . Feel Loved'

A new and welcome facility has been added to the Columbiana County Welfare Department with the dedication Wednesday at East Palestine of the new Kyes Memorial Home.

The familiar family homestead, donated to the county by Roger M. Kyes in memory of his parents, will be used to house temporarily children given into the custody of the Welfare Department for further court assignment or placement into foster homes.

County residents are in debt to Mr. Kyes, onetime deputy defense secretary, and to a number of East Palestine people and county authorities whose efforts brought about acquisition of the home.

A deep-rooted generosity and consideration for unfortunate youngsters characterized the project. The county can consider itself the recipient of a true gift, both in a material and a spiritual sense.

No more fitting words could be offered by a man turning over the home of his youth to those young people who did not receive the guidance, care, and training parents owe every child than these of Mr. Kyes':

"May each child who enters this house feel wanted and loved as did Roger M. Keys who lived here."

'Teacher Of Year'

Congratulations are in order to Miss Sara Thomas, an instructor at Chester High School, who has been named "Teacher Of The Year" for the West Virginia Panhandle area in a statewide contest.

A look at the various categories considered by the judges indicates clearly that the honor didn't come lightly. The selection was based on scholastic attainment, teaching experience, professional attitude, competence, outstanding work beyond regular duty and interest in civic affairs.

It would be pleasing if the title of "West Virginia Teacher Of The Year" could be added to the one announced Wednesday for Miss Thomas when the Federated Women's Clubs, which sponsored the event, discloses its final winner at a convention next month.

Unstruck Medal For The Boys In Blue

At least once a year, sometimes oftener, the wheels of the government gods grind out another debate over the Post Office Department appropriation. This turns out to be the postal workers' darkest hour.

Whenever legislators and lobbyists get busy on postal service they make it appear to be something between a travesty and a joke. All its shortcomings are dragged into the light and pawed over for the edification of the public—the long-suffering public, as it is described in this connection.

It is made to sound as if the Post Office Department, which performs the most monumental day-by-day service of any federal department, is a sponger because it doesn't pay its own way. In the context of the profit system, this is a sign of inefficiency.

The fact is that postal service is the only efficient thing an ordinary American sees in his daily look at the federal government. He sees its employes, the equipment they work with, the buildings they occupy and the job they do and he says to himself, "This is good. It could be better if more money were spent, but even so it's good." The mail does get through. Bad service is the exception. The same job performed on a cost-plus basis would be so expensive only the well-to-do could afford it.

They're working in Washington on a new postal appropriation—about four billion dollars. The House has finished its part of the job and the question soon will be brought up in the Senate. To offset whatever additional rocks and dead cats may become air-borne in the process, this is an unstruck medal for the boys in blue.

No one in public service would be harder to get along without, which is our rule-of-thumb for the importance of public servants.

The 'Girl Friends'

The Columbiana County Automobile Club has a novel — and what could be effective—suggestion to help reduce the number of accidents among teen-agers.

"The girls have been overlooked too long for the help they can give in preventing accidents. Evidence points to the fact that many accidents are caused only because the boys are trying to 'show off' before an admiring feminine audience.

"Girls can blast that idea quickly by letting it be known they will be impressed far more by good sense and good driving.

"When girls know that their 'dates' are of the 'show off' variety, it will be better, and safer, to arrange their own transportation to meet the boys at the party. That way, the boys also will be safer by having no audience for their driving."

The approach makes a lot of sense and without doubt follows a line of reasoning used by many parents. A united front — auto club and parents — could bring even greater results safety-wise.

Flying Junk Yard Up Yonder

The Defense Department has cleared up the mystery of the mystery satellite. Its official explanation is that the object orbiting around the earth is the recovery capsule of a rocket launched last August.

The Defense Department cannot prove this. It is making an educated conjecture. In the circumstances, that is all anyone can expect.

It is like the Unidentified Flying Objects, which no one can explain satisfactorily but which the Air Force systematically processes when reports of new sightings come in, to show that its ability to rationalize is unimpaired by repeated challenges.

This will be the nature of everything found in the space outside the earth in decades to come. Man must rationalize what he cannot understand, because to do anything else is to admit that the elasticity of his imagination has been taxed beyond its capacity.

It has been so with the stars and the wind. Not understanding what they were, men had to explain them by conjecture, and in due course of time the conjecture was transformed into theory—and in some cases the theory ultimately was provable. At least it was probable until someone was able to prove it was unprovable.

There's going to be a weird assortment of flying junk in space as time passes and man moves in with the inevitable clutter that marks his presence. You can bet that every piece of it will be explainable, whether it's explainable or not.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A man will spend money for a rumpus room, fireside cocktail bar, de luxe kitchen and Floridian sun porch, but recoil from spending a small sum for shelter to save himself and his family from atomic death. Which is why one state, New York, is out with an urgent plea for public realization that atomic attack possibly is not a wild dream to be canceled out by a shoulder-shrugging apathy.

Committee report asks compulsory shelters in homes, apartment houses, shops and office buildings. It submits plans showing do-it-yourself shelter for less than $100. But legislators may back away, putting the loss of votes as more serious matter than the loss of human lives.

John Q. Public seems indifferent, perhaps because of instinctive fear of how much fun neighbors would poke at him as a Casper Milquetoast, if he digs himself a hole in the ground.

The average man shows less interest in shelter against an atomic bomb than in a wooden fence to separate his property from a rifle range or bow-and-arrow training field.

He will spend months making his home safe from termites and mice while brushing off the question: "How about saving the wife and kids from atomic death?"

(We know a fellow who signed a costly contract for fireproof shingles on a de luxe garage on the back of a cost sheet for an air raid shelter costing one tenth as much.)

It's a screwy picture when the serious inquiry: "Don't you realize that $150 may represent the difference between the family's life or death," generally brings the answer, "Sure, but I'm already scared enough without revealing it openly in co-operation with a mason and carpenter."

WHAT IS MISTER AMERICA WAITING FOR, AN EPITATH?

His home had luxuries complete;
He gave his house each costly touch. . .
But a low-priced shelter was TOO MUCH!

London has a slot machine which gives whiskey and soda for 35 cents. It will be perfect only if it is developed to give baseball comment, talk politics, answer domestic problems and say, "Go ahead, Buddy; I'm listening to your story."

The British housewife's tearful complaint will now be, "You promised me you wouldn't stop at those slot machines on your way home."

Boris Karloff has been signed as host in an airwave program of horror-thrillers. He won't stand a chance. Nine out of 10 characters in the current whodunits are so terrifying they make Boris seem like the man delivering commercials for a friendly bank.

Ike wants the 5-cent postage stamp. This may indicate that Mrs. Eisenhower isn't one of those wives who are forever writing friends and relatives, and responding to appeals beginning "Yes, you can win $50,000 in wonderful prizes by sending in a slogan in 25 words or less."

Roxy's famed movie house in New York has been sold and will give way for hotel purposes. This saddens us. It was one of Gotham's wonders when we first hit the big city and it made any trip on the Flying Carpet of Baghdad seem a waste of time. There was something about a Roxy usher that smacked of Buckingham, the Durbar and most Kipling generals.

Author of offbeat drama says, "I am not certain what it all meant. There are some things in it I don't understand." That makes it unanimous. Producers and playgoers are in the same boat with regard to many Broadway shows. Authors who have only a remote idea what they are driving at are in demand. In fact there are playgoers who will buy ticket to no show without assurance it will muddle them. "How was the show?" we asked a fellow last night. "It's no good-everything came through clear," he groaned.

Stuffy McInnis, who died the other day, was star away back in days of Eddie Collins, Homerun Baker and Jack Barry. His record for one error in the whole season at first base in 1921 still stands.

One Lesson We Could Learn From Reds

Political Caravans Will Be Rolling

By Victor Riesel

Caravans of Negroes will be rolling south by southwest in the early hours of July. By truck and car and bus and even special train, they'll be "marching" on the national convention at which either the Democrats or the Republicans will nominate a president of the United States.

Victor Riesel

Tens of thousands of Negroes and friendly white unionists will caravan through Gettysburg, Harper's Ferry, Clinton, Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark., on to an "encampment" in Los Angeles during the week of the Democratic conclave. And then north by northeast to Chicago for the Republican session.

Those are the plans of AFL-CIO officials of the new national Negro American Labor Council.

How many caravans, how many "marchers," no one knows. A recent similar "march" on Washington drew 30,000 Negroes when only a few thousand were expected.

SOME MAJOR UNIONS are rallying around the contingents being organized by A. Philip Randolph, leader of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, now whipping up support in Southern cities.

Most of the labor support springs from the former CIO unions. Typical is the New Jersey section of the International Union of Electrical Workers of which Jim Cary is president. The other day one of Carey's colleagues, Milton Weihrauch, an IUE vice president, exhorted his followers with:

"We want one contingent to go to the Democratic convention in July. We want a second contingent to go to the Republican convention in Chicago.

"Enlist your people now. Urge them to arrange their vacation schedules for this singular experience of a lifetime. Clear the matter with your executive boards now so that you can subsidize the necessary cost."

Another influential labor official. Joe Overton, business agent of Local 338 of the old CIO Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, is organizing contingents in New York. Overton is head of the New York section of the N.A.A.C.P., as well as being a member of the constitutional and stering committees of the Negro American Labor Council.

That council, which has a potential membership of some 1½ million, has been 10 years in the making. Its first session was held in March 1950, in Harlem's Hotel Theresa. Its organization was stalled until the AFL merged with the CIO. All those forces had sharp growing pains.

Now the Negro leaders are set again. They'll meet in Detroit's Hotel Statler over the Memorial Day weekend, according to current plans.

TO THIS LAUNCHING convention they'll invite official spokesmen of the Democratic and Republican national committees. They'll send word they would like the spokesmen to speak. And that they want the representative of each party to be one of the potential presidential nominees.

They will also invite AFL-CIO president, George Meany and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

At those sessions in Detroit, the Negro Council leaders will issue their formal call for the "march."

Once they gather in Los Angeles and Chicago, they'll break up into groups. They'll lobby among the convention delegates. They'll demand political platforms with definite promises of new voting laws such as Attorney General William Rogers and New York Rep. Emanuel Celler have introduced.

The "marchers" will demand federal election referees. They'll demand immediate repeal of the poll tax laws and enforcement of school integration decisions.

They'll set up their own convention headquarters with press room attached. They'll report daily on how they are received.

By that time they'll have a political network of Negro action groups inside many unions and precincts. These will be directed by the Negro American Labor Council. The leaders of the movement are on the march in more ways than one.

Nixon Taking Lead Role

By Hobart Rowen

Almost imperceptibly, Vice President Nixon has been taking over direction of much of the administration's economic policy. Leadership began to move into Nixon's willing hands the moment Gov. Rockefeller withdrew from the prsidential race.

Since then, Nixon has seized enough initiative in economic matters to provide some clues for the future, should he be elected president.

It seems clear that he would be both more flexible and more liberal than President Eisenhower. While this hardly makes him a New Dealer, it does pose a problem for the Democrats, who would prefer to keep a conservative label pinned tightly on Mr. Nixon.

THE FACT IS, though, that Nixon in recent years has allied himself with the more liberal side of the Eisenhower cabinet. He has generally supported the views, for example, of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, with whose help he settled the steel strike a few weeks ago.

But the more traditional thinking of Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson has effectively dominated basic administration decisions on budget, tax, and economic growth questions.

For example, when Nixon and others urged a tax cut to fight the 1958 recession, Anderson was against it and the treasury position prevailed.

Now, Nixon is the heir apparent. He is able to call more of the shots, and he does.

To cite one recent case, he played the key role in re-drafting Eisenhower's Feb. 9 message to Congress on farm legislation. Originally, the President had planned a re-statement of Agriculture Secretary Benson's proposal to cut wheat supports drastically, from $1.77 to $1.40 per bushel.

The very thought of this gave congressional Republicans the willies. They persuaded Nixon to intervene. He did, with the result that the White House shaped up a much milder message, which urged Congress to pass any reasonable measure that would reduce the wheat glut.

Another indication that Nixon is ready to develop his own economic program — even at the risk of conflict with Eisenhower — concerns the touchy question of national growth. How fast should the annual growth rate be?

THE DEMOCRATS, who feel that the administration has not driven the economy forward at a satisfactory pace, say the rate should be at least 4½ per cent annually (instead of the historical average of 3 per cent). Many independent surveys, including one financed by the Rockefeller brothers fund, put the needed rate even higher.

But Secretary Anderson — who has been the powerful conservative influence behind Eisenhower — says that it makes no sense "to pick a number." He fears that pushing the growth process will require too much government intrusion into the private economy.

Too timorous an economic answer to the Russian challenege could clearly reduce our country to second-class status. Nixon seems ready to cut himself loose from the Eisenhower-Anderson influence in favor of a bolder approach.

He will signal this by using in his speeches a 4 per cent annual growth figure — one developed in the Labor Department as the minimum necessary over the next decade just to take care of a bigger labor force.

Thus, despite Anderson's caveat, Nixon has "picked a number." To be sure, it's a belated move toward a position that Rockefeller took earlier and more forcefully. But it will be enough to indicate that the Democrats won't have the "growth issue" all to themselves.

Letter To Editor

How can we understand people of other countries of foreign ideas, life and languages when we fail to understand the people next door with American ways, ideas and speech, but a different shade of skin?

I'm an American and a Negro and I'm proud of both, but most of all I'm a human being, one of many living on this earth. I do not live to make life uncomfortable for anyone of any race, nation or religion. I'm approaching adulthood and my main objective is to attain a pleasant and enjoyable life for myself and family. Since everyone is of a family, if each family had a full and pleasant life the world would be relieved of the major problem of today.

To refuse a family the right to build a secure life on the lone basis of color is as thoughtless as amputating your little finger because it's smaller than the others. This is Brotherhood Week and a good time for us all to do some honest and long-needed thinking on the problem.

Inconsistent Democrats

By David Lawrence

Party Wants More Missiles And Disarmament

Politicians are supposed to be pretty good at picking out issues for an election campaign but sometimes they fumble the ball. It is beginning to look now as if that's what is going to happen to the Democrats on the missile gap and defense issue.

David Lawrence

For the critics can't have it both ways—they can't be in the position of urging the American government to accelerate its missile program and at the same time declare that nuclear tests must be abandoned and disarmament negotiations speeded up.

A political party can't be arguing persuasively for more defense on the theory that war is imminent in the next two or three years and at the same time be blaming the administration for not bringing about disarmament.

In fact, some Democrats have insisted that the United States should abandon its nuclear testing whether or not the Russians agree to inspection.

What will the mood of the electorate be next autumn? Will the public be so scared of the prospect of war that it will wish to punish the administration in power for not having built "enough" missiles for our armed forces?

Will the voters believe the President when he says our over-all defense is adequate as a deterrent against attack and that we are not relying on the missile alone or any one weapon?

He isn't running for re-election and will, therefore, wield a powerful influence.

PRESUMABLY the Democratic candidates are betting on the idea that the country will vote the Republican administration out of power for allegedly having failed to close the "missile gap."

But what will the Republicans be saying in answer? Already they are getting out charts and tables showing that the Democrats were in charge of the executive branch of the government to January 1953, and they spent for missiles a total of only $1,155,000,000 from 1947 through the fiscal year 1951.

As for the Republicans, in the fiscal year 1953 they spent $1,116,000,000 on missile programs and every year thereafter they increased the amounts, so that in 1956 they were spending $2,270,000,000.

In 1957 they spent $4,470,000,000 and added to this until they reached nearly $7,000,000,000 in 1959. They have almost that same amount scheduled for the fiscal year 1960.

If money is everything and if budgetary considerations should have been disregarded heretofore, then the query is what happened between 1947 and 1953 when it is presumed the Soviets got their start?

Also, since the hydrogen bomb is the key to vast destructive power today, why was there a lag in developing the H-bomb? Several years elapsed while a battle went on inside the Truman administration against developing the H-bomb as Russia moved on with its tests.

One of the principal scientists in our government who argued against developing the H-bomb was later declared a security risk, not because of any act of disloyalty on his part but because of his indiscretions in mingling with Communists.

Anyway, the H-bomb "lag" is the most serious of all and if the "missile lag" is to be a campaign issue, it could be that the whole messy story may be revived about how America was held back from developing the H-bomb when we had a start of several years over the Russians.

THE PRINCIPAL inconsistency, however, among those who are playing the defense issue so hard in party politics is that no candidate can afford to be pictured as a future president who will be concentrating on how to build up more and more military power at a time when supposedly the world is anxious for disarmament and a ban on nuclear weapons, including missiles.

When President Eisenhower visits the Soviet Union next June, will the reception he gets tend to emphasize peace as the mood of the hour or will he be looked upon as the representative of a country that is trying to make up its mind which political party is the better missile rattler?

Politically speaking, war has never been a good issue for any presidential candidate except when the nation is already in one. Both before a war and after a war, there is a popular feeling against the party that is accused of making a war or is later charged with having "dragged us into war."

"Peace and Prosperity" is to be the Republican slogan in the coming campaign and the Democrats will be smart if they use their energies to try to convince the country that there will be neither a war nor a serious disturbance to the economy if they win the elections.

Only Temporary Relief

By Bem Price

WASHINGTON

There are two methods of treating a headache. You can use drugs to suppress the pain or you can tackle the underlying cause.

Broadly speaking, the Republicans hold that defense spending is adequate, while the Democrats take an opposite view.

Apparently lost in this election year argument is the possibility that the United States is spending enough money, but is not spending it wisely. Why?

From the time men first employed sticks and stones in battle, new weapons have introduced in warfare so slowly it became an axiom that each new war was fought with weapons developed late in the last.

That axiom no longer applies.

It is true that long-range missiles were introduced by the Germans in World War II. The United States introduced nuclear weapons.

But there is no one alive who has any first-hand knowledge of a war in which missiles would deliver thermonuclear warheads at 16,000 miles per hour.

All the military experience accumulated over 5,000 years of recorded history is now obsolescent, if not altogether obsolete, where this new weapon is concerned.

Yet each participant in the current political defense debate must rely on military men, the supposed experts, for guidance. Each can turn up a military man who can support his point of view.

The United States is trying to cope with defense problems that are totally new by employing a military machine designed to fight World War II.

The military men themselves, accustomed to thinking in terms of service, Army, Navy and Air Force, cannot agree on what needs to be done.

In principle, many of these uniformed advisers agree that enough money is being spent, but they disagree on how it should be spent and the priorities assigned to the spending. Each thinks his service should have more to meet certain contingencies.

In the current defense debate, few men of major public stature have yet raised the question whether the entire defense structure shouldn't be overhauled and streamlined.

Briefly, few have raised the question whether new means should not be found to cope with an entirely new situation, a situation unprecedented in all history.

"The girls have been overlooked too long for the help they can give in preventing accidents. Evidence points to the fact that many accidents are caused only because the boys are trying to 'show off' before an admiring feminine audience.

"Girls can blast that idea quickly by letting it be known they will be impressed far more by good sense and good driving.

"When girls know that their 'dates' are of the 'show off' variety, it will be better, and safer, to arrange their own transportation to meet the boys at the party. That way, the boys also will be safer by having no audience for their driving."

The approach makes a lot of sense and without doubt follows a line of reasoning used by many parents. A united front — auto club and parents — could bring even greater results safety-wise.

Flying Junk Yard Up Yonder

The Defense Department has cleared up the mystery of the mystery satellite. Its official explanation is that the object orbiting around the earth is the recovery capsule of a rocket launched last August.

The Defense Department cannot prove this. It is making an educated conjecture. In the circumstances, that is all anyone can expect.

It is like the Unidentified Flying Objects, which no one can explain satisfactorily but which the Air Force systematically processes when reports of new sightings come in, to show that its ability to rationalize is unimpaired by repeated challenges.

This will be the nature of everything found in the space outside the earth in decades to come. Man must rationalize what he cannot understand, because to do anything else is to admit that the elasticity of his imagination has been taxed beyond its capacity.

It has been so with the stars and the wind. Not understanding what they were, men had to explain them by conjecture, and in due course of time the conjecture was transformed into theory—and in some cases the theory ultimately was provable. At least it was probable until someone was able to prove it was unprovable.

There's going to be a weird assortment of flying junk in space as time passes and man moves in with the inevitable clutter that marks his presence. You can bet that every piece of it will be explainable, whether it's explainable or not.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A man will spend money for a rumpus room, fireside cocktail bar, de luxe kitchen and Floridian sun porch, but recoil from spending a small sum for shelter to save himself and his family from atomic death. Which is why one state, New York, is out with an urgent plea for public realization that atomic attack possibly is not a wild dream to be canceled out by a shoulder-shrugging apathy.

Committee report asks compulsory shelters in homes, apartment houses, shops and office buildings. It submits plans showing do-it-yourself shelter for less than $100. But legislators may back away, putting the loss of votes as more serious matter than the loss of human lives.

John Q. Public seems indifferent, perhaps because of instinctive fear of how much fun neighbors would poke at him as a Casper Milquetoast, if he digs himself a hole in the ground.

The average man shows less interest in shelter against an atomic bomb than in a wooden fence to separate his property from a rifle range or bow-and-arrow training field.

He will spend months making his home safe from termites and mice while brushing off the question: "How about saving the wife and kids from atomic death?"

(We know a fellow who signed a costly contract for fireproof shingles on a de luxe garage on the back of a cost sheet for an air raid shelter costing one tenth as much.)

It's a screwy picture when the serious inquiry: "Don't you realize that $150 may represent the difference between the family's life or death," generally brings the answer, "Sure, but I'm already scared enough without revealing it openly in co-operation with a mason and carpenter."

WHAT IS MISTER AMERICA WAITING FOR, AN EPITATH?

Here he lies with loved ones sweet;
His home had luxuries complete;
He gave his house each costly touch. . .
But a low-priced shelter was TOO MUCH!

London has a slot machine which gives whiskey and soda for 35 cents. It will be perfect only if it is developed to give baseball comment, talk politics, answer domestic problems and say, "Go ahead, Buddy; I'm listening to your story."

The British housewife's tearful complaint will now be, "You promised me you wouldn't stop at those slot machines on your way home."

Boris Karloff has been signed as host in an airwave program of horror-thrillers. He won't stand a chance. Nine out of 10 characters in the current whodunits are so terrifying they make Boris seem like the man delivering commercials for a friendly bank.

Ike wants the 5-cent postage stamp. This may indicate that Mrs. Eisenhower isn't one of those wives who are forever writing friends and relatives, and responding to appeals beginning "Yes, you can win $50,000 in wonderful prizes by sending in a slogan in 25 words or less."

Roxy's famed movie house in New York has been sold and will give way for hotel purposes. This saddens us. It was one of Gotham's wonders when we first hit the big city and it made any trip on the Flying Carpet of Baghdad seem a waste of time. There was something about a Roxy usher that smacked of Buckingham, the Durbar and most Kipling generals.

Author of offbeat drama says, "I am not certain what it all meant. There are some things in it I don't understand." That makes it unanimous. Producers and playgoers are in the same boat with regard to many Broadway shows. Authors who have only a remote idea what they are driving at are in demand. In fact there are playgoers who will buy ticket to no show without assurance it will muddle them. "How was the show?" we asked a fellow last night. "It's no good-everything came through clear," he groaned.

Stuffy McInnis, who died the other day, was star away back in days of Eddie Collins, Homerun Baker and Jack Barry. His record for one error in the whole season at first base in 1921 still stands.

One Lesson We Could Learn From Reds

Political Caravans Will Be Rolling

By Victor Riesel

Caravans of Negroes will be rolling south by southwest in the early hours of July. By truck and car and bus and even special train, they'll be "marching" on the national convention at which eithr the Democrats or the Republicans will nominate a president of the United States.

Victor Riesel

Tens of thousands of Negroes and friendly white unionists will caravan through Gettysburg, Harper's Ferry, Clinton, Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark., on to an "encampment" in Los Angeles during the week of the Democratic conclave. And then north by northeast to Chicago for the Republican session.

Those are the plans of AFL-CIO officials of the new national Negro American Labor Council.

How many caravans, how many "marchers," no one knows. A recent similar "march" on Washington drew 30,000 Negroes when only a few thousand were expected.

SOME MAJOR UNIONS are rallying around the contingents being organized by A. Philip Randolph, leader of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, now whipping up support in Southern cities.

Most of the labor support springs from the former CIO unions. Typical is the New Jersey section of the International Union of Electrical Workers of which Jim Cary is president. The other day one of Carey's colleagues, Milton Weihrauch, an IUE vice president, exhorted his followers with:

"We want one contingent to go to the Democratic convention in July. We want a second contingent to go to the Republican convention in Chicago.

"Enlist your people now. Urge them to arrange their vacation schedules for this singular experience of a lifetime. Clear the matter with your executive boards now so that you can subsidize the necessary cost."

Another influential labor official. Joe Overton, business agent of Local 338 of the old CIO Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, is organizing contingents in New York. Overton is head of the New York section of the N.A.A.C.P., as well as being a member of the constitutional and stering committees of the Negro American Labor Council.

That council, which has a potential membership of some 1½ million, has been 10 years in the making. Its first session was held in March 1950, in Harlem's Hotel Theresa. Its organization was stalled until the AFL merged with the CIO. All those forces had sharp growing pains.

Now the Negro leaders are set again. They'll meet in Detroit's Hotel Statler over the Memorial Day weekend, according to current plans.

TO THIS LAUNCHING convention they'll invite official spokesmen of the Democratic and Republican national committees. They'll send word they would like the spokesmen to speak. And that they want the representative of each party to be one of the potential presidential nominees.

They will also invite AFL-CIO president, George Meany and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

At those sessions in Detroit, the Negro Council leaders will issue their formal call for the "march."

Once they gather in Los Angeles and Chicago, they'll break up into groups. They'll lobby among the convention delegates. They'll demand political platforms with definite promises of new voting laws such as Attorney General William Rogers and New York Rep. Emanuel Celler have introduced.

The "marchers" will demand federal election referees. They'll demand immediate repeal of the poll tax laws and enforcement of school integration decisions.

They'll set up their own convention headquarters with press room attached. They'll report daily on how they are received.

By that time they'll have a political network of Negro action groups inside many unions and precincts. These will be directed by the Negro American Labor Council. The leaders of the movement are on the march in more ways than one.

Nixon Taking Lead Role

By Hobart Rowen

Almost imperceptibly, Vice President Nixon has been taking over direction of much of the administration's economic policy. Leadership began to move into Nixon's willing hands the moment Gov. Rockefeller withdrew from the prsidential race.

Since then, Nixon has seized enough initiative in economic matters to provide some clues for the future, should he be elected president.

It seems clear that he would be both more flexible and more liberal than President Eisenhower. While this hardly makes him a New Dealer, it does pose a problem for the Democrats, who would prefer to keep a conservative label pinned tightly on Mr. Nixon.

THE FACT IS, though, that Nixon in recent years has allied himself with the more liberal side of the Eisenhower cabinet. He has generally supported the views, for example, of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, with whose help he settled the steel strike a few weeks ago.

But the more traditional thinking of Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson has effectively dominated basic administration decisions on budget, tax, and economic growth questions.

For example, when Nixon and others urged a tax cut to fight the 1958 recession, Anderson was against it and the treasury position prevailed.

Now, Nixon is the heir apparent. He is able to call more of the shots, and he does.

To cite one recent case, he played the key role in re-drafting Eisenhower's Feb. 9 message to Congress on farm legislation. Originally, the President had planned a re-statement of Agriculture Secretary Benson's proposal to cut wheat supports drastically, from $1.77 to $1.40 per bushel.

The very thought of this gave congressional Republicans the willies. They persuaded Nixon to intervene. He did, with the result that the White House shaped up a much milder message, which urged Congress to pass any reasonable measure that would reduce the wheat glut.

Another indication that Nixon is ready to develop his own economic program — even at the risk of conflict with Eisenhower -- concerns the touchy question of national growth. How fast should the annual growth rate be?

THE DEMOCRATS, who feel that the administration has not driven the economy forward at a satisfactory pace, say the rate should be at least 4½ per cent annually (instead of the historical average of 3 per cent). Many independent surveys, including one financed by the Rockefeller brothers fund, put the needed rate even higher.

But Secretary Anderson — who has been the powerful conservative influence behind Eisenhower — says that it makes no sense "to pick a number." He fears that pushing the growth process will require too much government intrusion into the private economy.

Too timorous an economic answer to the Russian challenege could clearly reduce our country to second-class status. Nixon seems ready to cut himself loose from the Eisenhower-Anderson influence in favor of a bolder approach.

He will signal this by using in his speeches a 4 per cent annual growth figure — one developed in the Labor Department as the minimum necessary over the next decade just to take care of a bigger labor force.

Thus, despite Anderson's caveat, Nixon has "picked a number." To be sure, it's a belated move toward a position that Rockefeller took earlier and more forcefully. But it will be enough to indicate that the Democrats won't have the "growth issue" all to themselves.

Letter To Editor

How can we understand people of other countries of foreign ideas, life and languages when we fail to understand the people next door with American ways, ideas and speech, but a different shade of skin?

I'm an American and a Negro and I'm proud of both, but most of all I'm a human being, one of many living on this earth. I do not live to make life uncomfortable for anyone of any race, nation or religion. I'm approaching adulthood and my main objective is to attain a pleasant and enjoyable life for myself and family. Since everyone is of a family, if each family had a full and pleasant life the world would be relieved of the major problem of today.

To refuse a family the right to build a secure life on the lone basis of color is as thoughtless as amputating your little finger because it's smaller than the others. This is Brotherhood Week and a good time for us all to do some honest and long-needed thinking on the problem.

Inconsistent Democrats

By David Lawrence

Party Wants More Missiles And Disarmament

Politicians are supposed to be pretty good at picking out issues for an election campaign but sometimes they fumble the ball. It is beginning to look now as if that's what is going to happen to the Democrats on the missile gap and defense issue.

David Lawrence

For the critics can't have it both ways—they can't be in the position of urging the American government to accelerate its missile program and at the same time declare that nuclear tests must be abandoned and disarmament negotiations speeded up.

A political party can't be arguing persuasively for more defense on the theory that war is imminent in the next two or three years and at the same time be blaming the administration for not bringing about disarmament.

In fact, some Democrats have insisted that the United States should abandon its nuclear testing whether or not the Russians agree to inspection.

What will the mood of the electorate be next autumn? Will the public be so scared of the prospect of war that it will wish to punish the administration in power for not having built "enough" missiles for our armed forces?

Will the voters believe the President when he says our over-all defense is adequate as a deterrent against attack and that we are not relying on the missile alone or any one weapon?

He isn't running for re-election and will, therefore, wield a powerful influence.

PRESUMABLY the Democratic candidates are betting on the idea that the country will vote the Republican administration out of power for allegedly having failed to close the "missile gap."

But what will the Republicans be saying in answer? Already they are getting out charts and tables showing that the Democrats were in charge of the executive branch of the government to January 1953, and they spent for missiles a total of only $1,155,000,000 from 1947 through the fiscal year 1951.

As for the Republicans, in the fiscal year 1953 they spent $1,116,000,000 on missile programs and every year thereafter they increased the amounts, so that in 1956 they were spending $2,270,000,000.

In 1957 they spent $4,470,000,000 and added to this until they reached nearly $7,000,000,000 in 1959. They have almost that same amount scheduled for the fiscal year 1960.

If money is everything and if budgetary considerations should have been disregarded heretofore, then the query is what happened between 1947 and 1953 when it is presumed the Soviets got their start?

Also, since the hydrogen bomb is the key to vast destructive power today, why was there a lag in developing the H-bomb? Several years elapsed while a battle went on inside the Truman administration against developing the H-bomb as Russia moved on with its tests.

One of the principal scientists in our government who argued against developing the H-bomb was later declared a security risk, not because of any act of disloyalty on his part but because of his indiscretions in mingling with Communists.

Anyway, the H-bomb "lag" is the most serious of all and if the "missile lag" is to be a campaign issue, it could be that the whole messy story may be revived about how America was held back from developing the H-bomb when we had a start of several years over the Russians.

THE PRINCIPAL inconsistency, however, among those who are playing the defense issue so hard in party politics is that no candidate can afford to be pictured as a future president who will be concentrating on how to build up more and more military power at a time when supposedly the world is anxious for disarmament and a ban on nuclear weapons, including missiles.

When President Eisenhower visits the Soviet Union next June, will the reception he gets tend to emphasize peace as the mood of the hour or will he be looked upon as the representative of a country that is trying to make up its mind which political party is the better missile rattler?

Politically speaking, war has never been a good issue for any presidential candidate except when the nation is already in one. Both before a war and after a war, there is a popular feeling against the party that is accused of making a war or is later charged with having "dragged us into war."

"Peace and Prosperity" is to be the Republican slogan in the coming campaign and the Democrats will be smart if they use their energies to try to convince the country that there will be neither a war nor a serious disturbance to the economy if they win the elections.

Only Temporary Relief

By Bem Price

WASHINGTON

There are two methods of treating a headache. You can use drugs to suppress the pain or you can tackle the underlying cause.

Broadly speaking, the Republicans hold that defense spending is adequate, while the Democrats take an opposite view.

Apparently lost in this election year argument is the possibility that the United States is spending enough money, but is not spending it wisely. Why?

From the time men first employed sticks and stones in battle, new weapons have introduced in warfare so slowly it became an axiom that each new war was fought with weapons developed late in the last.

That axiom no longer applies.

It is true that long-range missiles were introduced by the Germans in World War II. The United States introduced nuclear weapons.

But there is no one alive who has any first-hand knowledge of a war in which missiles would deliver thermonuclear warheads at 16,000 miles per hour.

All the military experience accumulated over 5,000 years of recorded history is now obsolescent, if not altogether obsolete, where this new weapon is concerned.

Yet each participant in the current political defense debate must rely on military men, the supposed experts, for guidance. Each can turn up a military man who can support his point of view.

The United States is trying to cope with defense problems that are totally new by employing a military machine designed to fight World War II.

The military men themselves, accustomed to thinking in terms of service, Army, Navy and Air Force, cannot agree on what needs to be done.

In principle, many of these uniformed advisers agree that enough money is being spent, but they disagree on how it should be spent and the priorities assigned to the spending. Each thinks his service should have more to meet certain contingencies.

In the current defense debate, few men of major public stature have yet raised the question whether the entire defense structure shouldn't be overhauled and streamlined.

Briefly, few have raised the question whether new means should not be found to cope with an entirely new situation, a situation unprecedented in all history.

Road Cost Set At $285,000

four-lane highway, it is required to furnish detailed construction plans. The planning now is virtually completed, financed by a $104,000 federal loan obtained by the city in 1957.

But the $104,000 will not cover all the planning cost, which ultimately is expected to total about $120,000. In addition, the city borrowed $25,000 a year ago to finance planning of a 2,000-foot section that was added to the freeway near the north city limits to tie it in with an Ohio River-Lake Erie Freeway.

However, planning of the additional 2,000 - foot section is expected to cost only $15,000 instead of $25,000, as was originally anticipated.

In all, then, the city will have about $135,000 invested in planning — $120,000 for the freeway as originally conceived and $15,000 for the added section. Without the addition, there would have been a 2,000-foot section of regular 2-lane highway between the north end of the city's freeway and the south end of the Ohio River-Lake Erie Highway, which eventually will stretch from East Liverpool to Ashtabula as a link between river and lake ports.

The city freeway will run from the north city limits through California Hollow into West End, across W. 8th St. and end at W. 3rd and Monroe Sts.

The city's share of the project is spelled out in a so-called "consent ordinance," a lengthy piece of legislation in which the municipality agreed to participate in the project. The "consent ordinance" was enacted by Council in November 1956, McKenna pointed out.

There's at least one other major item of expense of the city in connection with the freeway construction, but its costs are not known definitely yet. In the "consent ordinance," the city agrees to assume the responsibility for relocation of any water or sewer lines or any other city-owned utilities necessitated by the project.

Bloomgren told Council that clause will result in lowering of the water line that runs from the standpipes on North Side across California Hollow to Pleasant Heights — at least that section of the water line passing underneath the new roadway.

It also will result in replacement of a water line which serves the sewage disposal plant and alterations in sewer lines in the vicinity of 7th St. and Persimmon Alley and in the W. 3rd and W. 4th St. area near Monroe St., he said.

The $285,000 which the city will be required to pay — in addition to furnishing the plans and relocating its utility lines — represents 5 per cent of the construction and right-of-way costs for the freeway.

Since Council adopted the "consent ordinance," the Highway Department has devised another formula for computing a city's share of such a project and it may be possible for the city to take advantage of the new formula if it would result in a lower overall expense.

In the newer formula, all the costs are lumped together, including preparation of plans and relocation of utility lines, and then the city's share is determined on the basis of population.

The city has another major investment which ties in indirectly with the freeway project — the current work on relocation of the lower end of the Carpenters Run sanitary sewer. Despite a federal grant representing about 30 per cent of the cost, the city will have $60,000 to $65,000 invested in the first phase of the sewer's relocation. However, the money will come out of sewage department funds, not out of operating revenue, as the Carpenters Run line is part of the city's interceptor sewer system flowing to the treatment plant in West End.

Explaining the work on the Carpenters Run line, Bloomgren told Council the work will not be complete until the freeway is built, as plans call for the upper section of the sewer to be built into the fill alongside the highway right-of-way. The present relocation project extends from the sewage plant to the old stone quarry in lower California Hollow. The work is being done by Sikora Bros. Excavating Co. of Poland under a contract let in late 1959.

The lower section of the Carpenters Run line was broken so badly that "it was out of service and useless," Bloomgren explained. It allowed raw sewage to escape into the run, which empties into the river between the sewage plant and the Newell Bridge.

As part of its 5 per cent share of the construction and right-of-way costs, the city will receive credit for 90 per cent of the $15,000 which it spent in 1955 for preparation of an arterial highway survey, the study which led to the present freeway plan. Ninety per cent of the cost of the survey figures out to $14,250.

At the outset, McKenna pointed out the Highway Department wants assurance that the city will furnish its share of the project cost before it proceeds to wholesale acquisition of property for right-of-way.

"We're aware that we're asking quite a bit of money from the city and we don't want to proceed with right-of-way purchases until we are confident the city can hold up its end," he said.

Much of the discussion centered on the history of the project, dating back nearly five years, to furnish background information for the present councilmen, all of whom took office only two months ago.

The project history stretches across the administrations of four mayors. It first was proposed in 1954-55 under E. Allan McKeever, Republican, and passed on to Arnold W. Devon, Democrat, in 1956-57. Then it was taken over by Fred P. Lawrence, Republican, in 1958-59, and eventually passed on to th epresent Democratic administration.

Mayor Goodballet recalled that in 1955 when he was serving as Council President the city's share of the work was estimated at approximately $165,000, based on estimates at that time. Changes in design standards for highways and other rising costs have helped to push the estimate to its present level, Jenkins said.

As the discussion ended, Council set its session Monday night to discuss the financial problem.

four-lane highway, it is required to furnish detailed construction plans. The planning now is virtually completed, financed by a $104,000 federal loan obtained by the city in 1957.

But the $104,000 will not cover all the planning cost, which ultimately is expected to total about $120,000. In addition, the city borrowed $25,000 a year ago to finance planning of a 2,000-foot section that was added to the freeway near the north city limits to tie it in with an Ohio River-Lake Erie Freeway.

However, planning of the additional 2,000 - foot section is expected to cost only $15,000 instead of $25,000, as was originally anticipated.

In all, then, the city will have about $135,000 invested in planning — $120,000 for the freeway as originally conceived and $15,000 for the added section. Without the addition, there would have been a 2,000-foot section of regular 2-lane highway between the north end of the city's freeway and the south end of the Ohio River-Lake Erie Highway, which eventually will stretch from East Liverpool to Ashtabula as a link between river and lake ports.

The city freeway will run from the north city limits through California Hollow into West End, across W. 8th St. and end at W. 3rd and Monroe Sts.

The city's share of the project is spelled out in a so-called "consent ordinance," a lengthy piece of legislation in which the municipality agreed to participate in the project. The "consent ordinance" was enacted by Council in November 1956, McKenna pointed out.

There's at least one other major item of expense of the city in connection with the freeway construction, but its costs are not known definitely yet. In the "consent ordinance," the city agrees to assume the responsibility for relocation of any water or sewer lines or any other city-owned utilities necessitated by the project.

Bloomgren told Council that clause will result in lowering of the water line that runs from the standpipes on North Side across California Hollow to Pleasant Heights — at least that section of the water line passing underneath the new roadway.

It also will result in replacement of a water line which serves the sewage disposal plant and alterations in sewer lines in the vicinity of 7th St. and Persimmon Alley and in the W. 3rd and W. 4th St. area near Monroe St., he said.

The $285,000 which the city will be required to pay — in addition to furnishing the plans and relocating its utility lines — represents 5 per cent of the construction and right-of-way costs for the freeway.

Since Council adopted the "consent ordinance," the Highway Department has devised another formula for computing a city's share of such a project and it may be possible for the city to take advantage of the new formula if it would result in a lower overall expense.

In the newer formula, all the costs are lumped together, including preparation of plans and relocation of utility lines, and then the city's share is determined on the basis of population.

The city has another major investment which ties in indirectly with the freeway project — the current work on relocation of the lower end of the Carpenters Run sanitary sewer. Despite a federal grant representing about 30 per cent of the cost, the city will have $60,000 to $65,000 invested in the first phase of the sewer's relocation. However, the money will come out of sewage department funds, not out of operating revenue, as the Carpenters Run line is part of the city's interceptor sewer system flowing to the treatment plant in West End.

Explaining the work on the Carpenters Run line, Bloomgren told Council the work will not be complete until the freeway is built, as plans call for the upper section of the sewer to be built into the fill alongside the highway right-of-way. The present relocation project extends from the sewage plant to the old stone quarry in lower California Hollow. The work is being done by Sikora Bros. Excavating Co. of Poland under a contract let in late 1959.

The lower section of the Carpenters Run line was broken so badly that "it was out of service and useless," Bloomgren explained. It allowed raw sewage to escape into the run, which empties into the river between the sewage plant and the Newell Bridge.

As part of its 5 per cent share of the construction and right-of-way costs, the city will receive credit for 90 per cent of the $15,000 which it spent in 1955 for preparation of an arterial highway survey, the study which led to the present freeway plan. Ninety per cent of the cost of the survey figures out to $14,250.

At the outset, McKenna pointed out the Highway Department wants assurance that the city will furnish its share of the project cost before it proceeds to wholesale acquisition of property for right-of-way.

"We're aware that we're asking quite a bit of money from the city and we don't want to proceed with right-of-way purchases until we are confident the city can hold up its end," he said.

Much of the discussion centered on the history of the project, dating back nearly five years, to furnish background information for the present councilmen, all of whom took office only two months ago.

The project history stretches across the administrations of four mayors. It first was proposed in 1954-55 under E. Allan McKeever, Republican, and passed on to Arnold W. Devon, Democrat, in 1956-57. Then it was taken over by Fred P. Lawrence, Republican, in 1958-59, and eventually passed on to th epresent Democratic administration.

Mayor Goodballet recalled that in 1955 when he was serving as Council President the city's share of the work was estimated at approximately $165,000, based on estimates at that time. Changes in design standards for highways and other rising costs have helped to push the estimate to its present level, Jenkins said.

As the discussion ended, Council set its session Monday night to discuss the financial problem.

U.S. Jury Finds Woman Guilty Of Embezzlement

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal jury took only 45 minutes here Wednesday to return a verdict of guilty in the $107,402 embezzlement case against Edna E. Arndt of Stow, Ohio.

Several of the seven men and five women on the jury said their decision was unanimous on the first ballot.

Miss Arndt admitted embezzling the funds over a period of three years from the Cuyahoga Falls branch of the First National Bank of Akron, where she worked for 13 years. Her defense hinged on the contention she was insane when she took the money.

The shortages were uncovered last March when the bank was dropped as a state sales tax agency.

Judge Paul Jones of the U.S. District Court said he would determine the sentence within a week. Maximum penalty is five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Miss Arndt testified in the week-long trial that the voices of her dead father and of Jesus had told her to take the money. She admitted she had covered shortages in her accounts with false receipts.

A psychiatrist called by the government testified that in his opinion Miss Arndt was sane when she took the money.

Owner Plans Renovations

Old DeSylvan Hotel Slated To Escape Razing Orders

A shell of her former self, the old DeSylvan Hotel on E. 2nd St. may survive a death warrant in the form of a state tear-down order and undergo a major renovation that will make her part of East Liverpool's life again.

In response to queries about the status of an order for razing of the old brick building issued in 1958 by the state fire marshal's office, Fire Chief Charles Bryan said today the new owner has obtained permission to submit plans for renovation of the structure to avoid razing it. He said investigation has shown that the old landmark "is not nearly in as bad a shape" as was believed when the tear-down order was issued almost two years ago.

Alvin Sanford of Calcutta, who acquired the building at a tax sale Aug. 25 for $1,100, said he already has done some work on the structure and plans more when the weather is favorable. However, he said he does not know exactly to what future use the building will be put.

Part of the exterior wall at the rear of the third floor already has been removed and some work has been done in the interior, he said.

"I have had several state men in to look at it and they all said there was no danger of collapse," Sanford related. "One said that you can't find a new building with walls as straight as that."

Although the interior appears a shambles, partly from the depredations of transients who ripped out the plumbing, Sanford said he feels that the building is structurally sound and can be renovated for future use.

One of the city's leading hotels in its heyday at the turn of the century, the DeSylvan sits immediately alongside the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. right-of-way on the south side of E. 2nd St. a short distance west of Broadway.

It was a well-patronized hostelry when it was erected about 60 years ago by David Devine, a well-known East Liverpool restaurant operator of the day. The hotel, known as the McKinley, drew much of its patronage from railroad travelers.

The old building has been vacant for at least a half a dozen years. Vandals have smashed out most of the windows. The city's homeless "winos" used it for sleeping quarters at one time and it was they who were blamed by authorities for ripping out the plumbing fixtures and other valuables.

The structure last was operated as a hotel and roominghouse by Mrs. Lena Breakstone. The operation continued briefly after she moved to California, where she later died. The building passed to her heir, Eugene A. Breakstone of Chicago.

Unpaid taxes piled up against the old building. When the figure reached $2,004.99, plus interest, the building was ordered disposed of at a sheriff's sale. The money from the sale went into the county's coffers to be applied against the tax bill.

The hotel became the Terry when Devine sold it and moved to Pittsburgh, where he later died. In the last years of its operation, it was known as the Hotel DeSylvan. The DeSylvan had a final surge of prosperity during World War II because of the housing shortage.

Daw said enough persons have signed for typing but more are needed in making up a class in shorthand.

RECIPE FOR HEALTH
A prescription is a recipe for health. It represents a physician's scientific diagnosis and careful decision as to the best method of treating a particular illness. The responsibility imposed upon a physician in diagnosing illness and prescribing treatment is equal to the value given life.
Second only to the responsibility of the physician is the responsibility of the pharmacist who compounds and dispenses the prescribed medication. This is a responsibility which Herche's is especially well prepared to accept.

A prescription is a recipe for health. It represents a physician's scientific diagnosis and careful decision as to the best method of treating a particular illness. The responsibility imposed upon a physician in diagnosing illness and prescribing treatment is equal to the value given life.
Second only to the responsibility of the physician is the responsibility of the pharmacist who compounds and dispenses the prescribed medication. This is a responsibility which Herche's is especially well prepared to accept.

Midland Group Meets

Water Board Budget Set

The Midland Municipal Authority Wednesday tentatively adopted a 1960 budget calling for $160,000 in expenditures with $200,000 expected as revenue.

Operating expenses were estimated at $145,000 and debt service, including principal and interest, will be about $15,000.

PROPOSED capital expenditures will be $39,500, including fire hydrant relocations, $3,000; building repairs, $3,000; 8-inch water line on Midland Ave. west of 3rd St., $20,000; lime feeders, $2,500; laboratory improvements, $5,000; small tools, $1,500, and electric check valves for high service and booster pumps, $4,500.

Operating expenses include those for raw water purchase, purification and distribution systems, pumping, general office and insurance and other.

The 1959 budget estimated revenue was $195,000 which actually was $191,463. Actual operating expenses in 1959 were $130,773.

GRANVILLE Kester, the authority's consulting engineer of Michael Baker Jr., Inc. of Rochester, said the budget takes into consideration the increased water demand of the Crucible Steel Co.—about 100,000 extra gallons per day beginning in the spring, and also the expected increase in labor costs and benefits.

The authority turned down a 47-cent package requested by the utilities workers union and countered with an offer of a 12-cent hourly package.

The union of 10 employes will study the offer and give its answer next week. Rudolph Presutti headed contract talks for the authority. The union was represented by Reginald Brown, union representative of Greensburg; Harless (Red) Chamberlain, local president, and Lloyd Welch.

THE AUTHORITY'S offer includes 7 cents for paid-up insurance and 5 cents to start a pension plan which the workers do not have.

The union is asking a 15-cent raise, cost of living adjustment, double time and a half for holidays, time and a half Sunday, full sick leave coverage, improved vacations and Veterans Day as a paid holiday.

The authority said the union could use the 12 cents as it desires and said it might meet the request for the eighth paid holiday.

During a discussion of water rates, members approved a motion by Presutti that George Burrier, manager of the Midland Works of Crucible Steel, be contacted to send a representative to the next meeting March 16.

A REQUEST for a commercial vacuum cleaner by Don Craik, manager, was tabled until the next meeting. The water department does not have one.

Bids for pulverized and hydrated lime were opened and will be acted on at the next meeting. They were received from the Neville Lime Co. and Warner Co., booth of Pittsburgh, Macin, Inc., of Butler and Opalco Laboratories of McKeesport. They quoted prices of $20.60 a ton per hundred ton of hydrated and $27.15 a ton for pulverized.

Mrs. Malena Westlake, secretary-treasurer, reported a balance in all accounts as of Jan. 31 of $119,549.13. Bills in the amount of $11,247.93 were ordered paid.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, president, presided.

Snow

this morning were fairly moderate—in the 23-to-34-degree range.

The low this morning at the dam was 31 degrees. The low tonight will be 25 to 30. The high Wednesday afternoon was 41.

There may be some drifting as winds will increase to 15 to 25 mph. by evening as the storm approaches.

The Ohio Department of Highways reported both primary and secondary roads snow-covered and slippery west of a line marked by Greenville, Wapakoneta, Marion, Coshocton, Cambridge and New Lexington and in the Wilmington and Batavia areas.

Eastern and southeastern Ohio roads were wet and slippery in spots.

All district roads were very hazardous until about 9 a. m. when ash crews completed work on most main highways, leaving them slushy, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Secondary roads still were slippery and snow-covered late this morning, and anticipation of further snow brought a warning from officers for motorists to be especially cautious today and tonight.

All county highway equipment began ashing as the first of the snow arrived, according to Supt. John Neill Jr.

Some Beaver Local School District buses were late this morning because of road conditions, but all reached the school without incident.

At East Palestine, street crews were called out at 6 a. m. to cinder slippery areas, and were to return to work on the streets later today when snow accumulated over the ashes, a spokesman said.

Roads in Hancock County were reported in "good condition" this morning by the West Virginia Road Commission garage at Pughtown, which also said crews were salting and cindering.

Garage officials said more snow was falling between Chester and New Cumberland than south of the county seat.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville said the highways in its area are icy. Officers were investigating a minor two - car accident on Route 213 near Hollow Rock at 8:50 a. m. this morning. No one was reported injured.

Thief Takes Coin Box From Telephone Booth

Theft of a coin box from a public telephone in a Dresden Ave. booth was reported to police today by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Robert Brookes, an employe of the company, said the coin container was ripped from a phone at the McLaughlin Used Car Lot, 1753 Dresden Ave., the night of Feb. 13-14. He did not estimate the amount of cash taken.

Meanwhile, Jeremiah Vuletic of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 told police Wednesday night a wallet containing his driver's license and auto registration papers was stolen from the front seat of his car while it was parked on Walnut St. between 8:30 and 11:45 p. m. Monday.

Temperature 91? Blame It On Bulb

Downtown shoppers were astonished this morning when they glanced at the outdoor thermometer on the Potters Bank & Trust Co. and saw the temperature read "91."

Actually, the temperature reading was 31 but one of the bulbs is slightly out of time and comes on, closing the 3 to make it read 9 just before the time figures flash on, the bank explained.

His schedule included the placing of a wreath on a memorial to Brazilians who died as soldiers in his European command in World War II. Eisenhower termed this a "very special and, to me, deeply moving mission to perform in your city."

Gov. Carlos Alberto Carvalho Pinto of Sao Paulo State, Brazil's most populous and richest state, and the city's mayor, Adhemar de Barros, welcomed Eisenhower and his party at Congonhas Airport.

After military honors, Eisenhower and the governor entered an open car and moved off slowly behind a motorcycle escort for a parade through the city's streets to the governor's official residence, Campos Eliseos—Elysian Fields. Even in the vicinity of the airport spectators lined the curbs.

Fifteen minutes later, a drizzle started in the center of the city, and the sparse crowd raised umbrellas.

Around the plaza, thousands of grammar and high school children lined the route. Many of them wore school uniforms. Spectators waved flags of the United States and Brazil.

The President's big jetliner was left in Rio, and the trusty old Columbine III was brought out for the 220-mile flight from Rio to Sao Paulo. The local Congonhas Airport is built into the side of a hill and cannot handle airliner-size jets.

Heading the reception committe was Sao Paulo's governor, Carlos Alberto Carvalho Pinto, chief administrative officer of Brazil's most populous and biggest industrial and agricultural state.

Also on the President's program was a luncheon with local industrial and agricultural leaders, at which Eisenhower was to make a short speech, and a wreath-laying at a memorial to Brazilian troops who fought in Italy in World War II, when Eisenhower was supreme allied commander.

Another undisturbed conference was arranged by Eisenhower and President Juscelino Kubitschek for the hour's trip back to Rio. But the two Presidents were expected to deal with world problems and hemispheric affairs in a general way only, leaving the details of U.S.-Brazilian matters to Secretary of State Christian Herter and Foreign Minister Horacio Lafer. They remained in Rio to confer.

Eisenhower was reported standing up well under the heat and humid weather he has encountered since he began his Latin-American visit in Perto Rico Monday. He was beamingly pleased at the giant welcome Rio gave him on his arrival there Wednesday.

Suspension Given Youthful Speeder 'For Study Of Car'

A youthful speeder who denied souping up his auto "because I don't know anything about cars" got a 10-day license suspension today from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to catch up on his studies.

Larry R. Blakeley, 20, of 1221 Anderson Ave., Wellsville, faced the judge on a charge of speeding 80 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone Wednesday morning on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "superroad." He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Questioned by the judge, Blakeley said he was hurrying because he was late for his job in Newell. Cited at 6:55, he was due on the job at 7, he explained.

"Do you have your car souped up?" the judge asked.

"No; I don't know anything about cars," Blakeley replied.

"Well, I'll give you 10 days to learn," the judge replied. He decreed a fine of $25 and costs and a 10-day license suspension.

Meanwhile, James Maxwell, 102 Boyce St., is scheduled for a hearing at 2 this afternoon on a patrol charge he crashed a stop sign Wednesday at the Y. & O. Rd. and Route 30. Mrs. Barbara Provost of Toronto was to appear at the same time on a charge of crashing a stop sign Saturday at the Y. & O. Rd. and Route 267, but her physician advised the court she would be unable to appear. The judge reset the case for March 3.

2 Drivers Deny Blame After Dresden Mishap

Each driver pointed an accusing finger at the other after a minor traffic mishap Wednesday night at 6:52 on Dresden Ave., police said.

The collision involved a 1951 sedan driven by Sidney N. Perkins, 17, of Westfield Rd., who was pulling onto the highway from the Paramount Service Station, and a 1956 sedan driven north on Dresden by James H. Duffy, 30, of 707 Dewey Ave.

Perkins told police he was pulling out of the station when Duffy "came down the highway without lights and hit me." Duffy asserted he was headed north—and with his headlights on—when Perkins pulled out of the station and hit his car.

Midland Group Meets

Water Board Budget Set

The Midland Municipal Authority Wednesday tentatively adopted a 1960 budget calling for $160,000 in expenditures with $200,000 expected as revenue.

Operating expenses were estimated at $145,000 and debt service, including principal and interest, will be about $15,000.

PROPOSED capital expenditures will be $39,500, including fire hydrant relocations, $3,000; building repairs, $3,000; 8-inch water line on Midland Ave. west of 3rd St., $20,000; lime feeders, $2,500; laboratory improvements, $5,000; small tools, $1,500, and electric check valves for high service and booster pumps, $4,500.

Operating expenses include those for raw water purchase, purification and distribution systems, pumping, general office and insurance and other.

The 1959 budget estimated revenue was $195,000 which actually was $191,463. Actual operating expenses in 1959 were $130,773.

GRANVILLE Kester, the authority's consulting engineer of Michael Baker Jr., Inc. of Rochester, said the budget takes into consideration the increased water demand of the Crucible Steel Co.—about 100,000 extra gallons per day beginning in the spring, and also the expected increase in labor costs and benefits.

The authority turned down a 47-cent package requested by the utilities workers union and countered with an offer of a 12-cent hourly package.

The union of 10 employes will study the offer and give its answer next week. Rudolph Presutti headed contract talks for the authority. The union was represented by Reginald Brown, union representative of Greensburg; Harless (Red) Chamberlain, local president, and Lloyd Welch.

THE AUTHORITY'S offer includes 7 cents for paid-up insurance and 5 cents to start a pension plan which the workers do not have.

The union is asking a 15-cent raise, cost of living adjustment, double time and a half for holidays, time and a half Sunday, full sick leave coverage, improved vacations and Veterans Day as a paid holiday.

The authority said the union could use the 12 cents as it desires and said it might meet the request for the eighth paid holiday.

During a discussion of water rates, members approved a motion by Presutti that George Burrier, manager of the Midland Works of Crucible Steel, be contacted to send a representative to the next meeting March 16.

A REQUEST for a commercial vacuum cleaner by Don Craik, manager, was tabled until the next meeting. The water department does not have one.

Bids for pulverized and hydrated lime were opened and will be acted on at the next meeting. They were received from the Neville Lime Co. and Warner Co., booth of Pittsburgh, Macin, Inc., of Butler and Opalco Laboratories of McKeesport. They quoted prices of $20.60 a ton per hundred ton of hydrated and $27.15 a ton for pulverized.

Mrs. Malena Westlake, secretary-treasurer, reported a balance in all accounts as of Jan. 31 of $119,549.13. Bills in the amount of $11,247.93 were ordered paid.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, president, presided.

this morning were fairly moderate—in the 23-to-34-degree range.

The low this morning at the dam was 31 degrees. The low tonight will be 25 to 30. The high Wednesday afternoon was 41.

There may be some drifting as winds will increase to 15 to 25 mph. by evening as the storm approaches.

The Ohio Department of Highways reported both primary and secondary roads snow-covered and slippery west of a line marked by Greenville, Wapakoneta, Marion, Coshocton, Cambridge and New Lexington and in the Wilmington and Batavia areas.

Eastern and southeastern Ohio roads were wet and slippery in spots.

All district roads were very hazardous until about 9 a. m. when ash crews completed work on most main highways, leaving them slushy, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Secondary roads still were slippery and snow-covered late this morning, and anticipation of further snow brought a warning from officers for motorists to be especially cautious today and tonight.

All county highway equipment began ashing as the first of the snow arrived, according to Supt. John Neill Jr.

Some Beaver Local School District buses were late this morning because of road conditions, but all reached the school without incident.

At East Palestine, street crews were called out at 6 a. m. to cinder slippery areas, and were to return to work on the streets later today when snow accumulated over the ashes, a spokesman said.

Roads in Hancock County were reported in "good condition" this morning by the West Virginia Road Commission garage at Pughtown, which also said crews were salting and cindering.

Garage officials said more snow was falling between Chester and New Cumberland than south of the county seat.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville said the highways in its area are icy. Officers were investigating a minor two - car accident on Route 213 near Hollow Rock at 8:50 a. m. this morning. No one was reported injured.

Blame It On Bulb

Downtown shoppers were astonished this morning when they glanced at the outdoor thermometer on the Potters Bank & Trust Co. and saw the temperature read "91."

Actually, the temperature reading was 31 but one of the bulbs is slightly out of time and comes on, closing the 3 to make it read 9 just before the time figures flash on, the bank explained.

Thief Takes Coin Box From Telephone Booth

Theft of a coin box from a public telephone in a Dresden Ave. booth was reported to police today by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Robert Brookes, an employe of the company, said the coin container was ripped from a phone at the McLaughlin Used Car Lot, 1753 Dresden Ave., the night of Feb. 13-14. He did not estimate the amount of cash taken.

Meanwhile, Jeremiah Vuletic of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 told police Wednesday night a wallet containing his driver's license and auto registration papers was stolen from the front seat of his car while it was parked on Walnut St. between 8:30 and 11:45 p. m. Monday.

Marks Birthday In California

W. A. Knowles Turns 100

Willis Alfred Knowles, onetime city resident and member of a widely known pottery manufacturing family, is looking eagerly to the future after having observed his 100th birthday last month in California, where he has resided since shortly after leaving here 68 years ago.

Mr. Knowles, sole male survivor of the family of the late Isaac W. Knowles, who founded the former Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Co. pottery, marked his birthday Jan. 14 at his mansion in Santa Barbara, where some 30 relatives visited him.

He was born in East Liverpool the year Abraham Lincoln was elected president, the second child of his father's second wife, the former Rebecca Merchant of Beaver County.

RAISED IN the family home, then at E. 5th and Washington St., he assisted as a young man in the K T & K plant, built partly from the city's first pottery, operated by James Bennett. The pottery had been damaged by the Ohio River flood of 1852 and was later purchased by the older Knowles.

For a time Mr. Knowles assisted in the plant operation while it was directed by his older half-brother, the late Homer S. Knowles, at whose funeral Gov. William McKinley, later president, was a pall-bearer.

The K T & K firm first made Rockingham and yellow ware, later turning out whiteware called semi-porcelain. Mr. Knowles recalls working with the late Joshua Poole, brought here from England, on the famed Beleek ware. The local plant also produced the now rare Lotus ware of which the Santa Barbara family has a number of specimens.

When Mr. Knowles was 32 — having worked for the company about 10 years — his health declined somewhat and he went first to Florida, then west to the Colorado mountains and finally to California. He has not visited in East Liverpool for some time.

HE WAS married in 1888 to the former Brenda Thorp, who died 32 years ago. He has two sons, Edwin F. Knowles and Donald T. Knowles, who, with their families, reside near his 67-year-old home.

Mr. Knowles introduced the raising of avocados in California, taking some from Florida, and from the first tree he planted has sold many seeds through the years. He has also grown lemons and sold them to leading firms, and raises oranges, eating one daily.

WILLIS ALFRED KNOWLES

For many years Mr. Knowles played tennis. He also enjoyed hunting and fishing.

Mr. Knowles took out a policy with an insurance firm when 28 and paid it off in 20 years with $5,888 in premiums. Since then he has received more than that amount in cash dividends and a $10,000 cash fund has been set up by the firm for his withdrawal at any time.

A housekeeper and cook, Mrs. Willy Swanson, has been with him for seven years at the home at East Valley Rd., Montecito.

Mr. Knowles takes a little wine occasionally, but doesn't smoke and rarely views television; "I watched it until recently, but there are too many Westerns — they're like nothing I have known in the West."

Mr. Knowles offers this longevity formula: "Never hurry, never worry, never overeat."

Copenhaver Occupies New Office At City Hall

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver moved Wednesday afternoon to new offices in the basement of City Hall — the space formerly occuped by the defunct city income tax department.

As a result of the shift, the director and Mayor Bert H. Goodballet each have private office space. Formerly, the two officials occupied the same large room on the first floor of City Hall.

Goodballet remains in the quarters that have been the mayor's office since City Hall was built 26 years ago. Until about three years ago, the director's office was across the main corridor of City Hall from the mayor's office. At that time, the director gave up his office for use of the water department and moved in with the mayor.

Mrs. Lillian McKever moved to the new downstairs office as receptionist and secretary for the director. Mrs. Marian Gerace remains in the main floor office as receptionist and secretary to the mayor.

Why The Barbers 'Itch'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that barbers get tired of hearing —or overhearing:

"Well, hair today—gone tomorrow, eh Tony?"

"Just a little off the top."

"The place hasn't been the same since you let in women and quit subscribing to the Police Gazette."

"If this stuff is so good, Tony, why are you so bald?"

"Who do you like in the seventh at Hialeah today?"

"Keep it high in the back. I've got a short neck."

"I came in to get my ears lowered, Tony."

"Remember when a guy could get a shave and a haircut for two bits? Those were the good old old days."

"Who cuts your hair, Tony — your wife?"

"Part it down the middle, Tony. My wife says every block ought to have an alley."

"If I want your political opinions I'll ask for them."

"See any gray ones up there?"

"There ought to be a special price for us baldies. I only got half the hair I used to—and you charge me four times as much."

"Why should I have to make an appointment? Are you a barber or a brain surgeon?"

"Baldness runs in my family. My uncle looked like a bowling ball at 19."

"What do you do with all that hair on the floor—sell it to mattress manufacturers?"

"Be careful with the mustache. It took me a year to grow it."

Marks Birthday In California

W. A. Knowles Turns 100

Willis Alfred Knowles, onetime city resident and member of a widely known pottery manufacturing family, is looking eagerly to the future after having observed his 100th birthday last month in California, where he has resided since shortly after leaving here 68 years ago.

Mr. Knowles, sole male survivor of the family of the late Isaac W. Knowles, who founded the former Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Co. pottery, marked his birthday Jan. 14 at his mansion in Santa Barbara, where some 30 relatives visited him.

He was born in East Liverpool the year Abraham Lincoln was elected president, the second child of his father's second wife, the former Rebecca Merchant of Beaver County.

RAISED IN the family home, then at E. 5th and Washington St., he assisted as a young man in the K T & K plant, built partly from the city's first pottery, operated by James Bennett. The pottery had been damaged by the Ohio River flood of 1852 and was later purchased by the older Knowles.

For a time Mr. Knowles assisted in the plant operation while it was directed by his older half-brother, the late Homer S. Knowles, at whose funeral Gov. William McKinley, later president, was a pall-bearer.

The K T & K firm first made Rockingham and yellow ware, later turning out whiteware called semi-porcelain. Mr. Knowles recalls working with the late Joshua Poole, brought here from England, on the famed Beleek ware. The local plant also produced the now rare Lotus ware of which the Santa Barbara family has a number of specimens.

When Mr. Knowles was 32 — having worked for the company about 10 years — his health declined somewhat and he went first to Florida, then west to the Colorado mountains and finally to California. He has not visited in East Liverpool for some time.

HE WAS married in 1888 to the former Brenda Thorp, who died 32 years ago. He has two sons, Edwin F. Knowles and Donald T. Knowles, who, with their families, reside near his 67-year-old home.

Mr. Knowles introduced the raising of avocados in California, taking some from Florida, and from the first tree he planted has sold many seeds through the years. He has also grown lemons and sold them to leading firms, and raises oranges, eating one daily.

WILLIS ALFRED KNOWLES

For many years Mr. Knowles played tennis. He also enjoyed hunting and fishing.

Mr. Knowles took out a policy with an insurance firm when 28 and paid it off in 20 years with $5,888 in premiums. Since then he has received more than that amount in cash dividends and a $10,000 cash fund has been set up by the firm for his withdrawal at any time.

A housekeeper and cook, Mrs. Willy Swanson, has been with him for seven years at the home at East Valley Rd., Montecito.

Mr. Knowles takes a little wine occasionally, but doesn't smoke and rarely views television; "I watched it until recently, but there are too many Westerns — they're like nothing I have known in the West."

Mr. Knowles offers this longevity formula: "Never hurry, never worry, never overeat."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 13 and must get help with a family proglem. It all happened yesterday on Mom's 34th birthday. I forgot it was her birthday and so did my younger sister and brother. Daddy didn't remember it either.

It all started when Mom got a card in the mail from my aunt. That set off the fireworks. We tried to wish her a happy birthday after we realized it was the day but she got mad and yelled: "I'm just a housekeeper and cook around here. Nobody gives a darn about me."

We tried to hug her and she threw us off her lap. Now we are all very sad because she goes around with a long face and won't talk to us. What can we do?BAD KIDS.

Dear Kids: Be friendly and helpful in the house and Mom will sweeten up. Mother's Day is in May—so save your pennies to buy her a nice gift or card to let her know you remembered.

Also, get a 1961 calendar and mark Mom's birthday so you won't let it slip by next year. Remind your Dad—a few days in advance so he can take Mom out to dinner on her 35th. And for heaven's sake, don't forget his birthday.

Social Abstainer

Dear Ann: Is social drinking a must these days? In the town where we live it seems that every small dinner party, whether in a home or a restaurant, must start with a cocktail or two. They never ask if you'd care for one. It's always, "What will yours be?"

I'm a man in my 40s who is planning to marry a lovely widow with children. She likes a cocktail before dinner. I do not. She told me nicely that it's rude to be the only one in the crowd not drinking. In my opinion it's foolish to order a drink and let it sit.

"I've been told by others that a lone abstainer in a crowd sticks out like a sore thumb. What is your opinion?—ME MYSELF AND I.

Dear Me: I say what this world needs is more sore thumbs. It's senseless to follow the crowd if you don't particularly care to go in that direction. NO is a perfectly respectable Anglo-Saxon word, used in the best of circles. I heartily recommend that you use it for just such occasions.

Late, Late Show

Dear Ann: Our son goes with a girl 15. He's 16 and very adult for his age. The problem is the girl's parents. They insist that she be home by midnight. (She has permission to date weekends only.) However, they think it's perfectly all right for a young man to stay and visit as long as he likes.

The only thing that matters is that their daughter is at home on time.

Our son has been rolling in at 3:30 and 4 in the morning. We don't think this is right. What can we do about it? We can't tell the girl's parents to kick our son out.—TROUBLED PARENTS.

Dear Troubled Parents: It's not good for a young man to park himself at a young lady's home until dawn. The girl's parents should impose some sort of curfew on her visitors. Since they are not so inclined, it's up to you to give your son orders. Tell him he must be home by 1 a.m. This is ample time for fond farewells.

Confidentially

TO SCARED STIFF: Change the locks on your doors. This is far better than being as nervous as a long-tailed cat in a room full of rocking chairs.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Consideration May Halt Disobedience

Parents often write of the tot or older child who embarrasses them before company. Of a boy, nine, his mother writes from Ohio: "He does average or better work at school and at home is often helpful. He has been exposed to good manners. He engages in many activities with other children. "Our greatest problem with him is when we have company, which is not very frequent, as my husband and I both work full time. But then he defies anything we ask him to do. He openly disobeys, remaining stubborn about even speaking to the individuals who are visiting. In most cases, they are friends who are closest to us and to him, the ones that are thoughtful of him on birthdays and other occasions."

By Garry Meyers

HERE'S ABOUT the way I answered her:

The time to teach your boy to obey is when you don't have company. Do it so well then that you need not worry about his behavior when guests are present.

If he openly disobeys something you tell him not to do when you have guests, just isolate him for a half hour or so.

In your everyday experiences decide on the few things you are sure he must do. If you are not sure he will do them, don't ask him but tell him, and then set a penalty.

But if you do ask him to do anything, let him choose and don't get mad if he doesn't do it. Act toward a request of him as if you had made the same request of your husband.

I doubt whether he means to be disobedient about having gracious ways toward guests.

HE MAY feel shy and be embarrassed when you command him to talk to them.

Why command him then?

Indeed, treat him as a precious person and be so gracious and considerate that he will feel comfortable and enjoy conversing with them.

When he does talk, don't butt in. Be an appreciative listener.

I am sure you and Dad will find more ways to enjoy him and have good times with him after you have a few matters of control settled.

Sometimes when children drop in on their way to school, or even at other times, a child from six to 12 may act or speak in a very ugly way to his parents. He's trying to show off to the other children. The embarrassed parent may hardly know what to do then.

AS EARLY thereafter as possible, she should privately discuss his ugly ways with him and make clear that he must correct them or she may have to humiliate him the next time such happens. It's not good for her or the child to let this go on.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 13 and must get help with a family problem. It all happened yesterday on Mom's 34th birthday. I forgot it was her birthday and so did my younger sister and brother. Daddy didn't remember it either.

It all started when Mom got a card in the mail from my aunt. That set off the fireworks. We tried to wish her a happy birthday after we realized it was the day but she got mad and yelled: "I'm just a housekeeper and cook around here. Nobody gives a darn about me."

We tried to hug her and she threw us off her lap. Now we are all very sad because she goes around with a long face and won't talk to us. What can we do?BAD KIDS.

Dear Kids: Be friendly and helpful in the house and Mom will sweeten up. Mother's Day is in May—so save your pennies to buy her a nice gift or card to let her know you remembered.

Also, get a 1961 calendar and mark Mom's birthday so you won't let it slip by next year. Remind your Dad—a few days in advance so he can take Mom out to dinner on her 35th. And for heaven's sake, don't forget his birthday.

Social Abstainer

Dear Ann: Is social drinking a must these days? In the town where we live it seems that every small dinner party, whether in a home or a restaurant, must start with a cocktail or two. They never ask if you'd care for one. It's always, "What will yours be?"

I'm a man in my 40s who is planning to marry a lovely widow with children. She likes a cocktail before dinner. I do not. She told me nicely that it's rude to be the only one in the crowd not drinking. In my opinion it's foolish to order a drink and let it sit.

"I've been told by others that a lone abstainer in a crowd sticks out like a sore thumb. What is your opinion?—ME MYSELF AND I.

Dear Me: I say what this world needs is more sore thumbs. It's senseless to follow the crowd if you don't particularly care to go in that direction. NO is a perfectly respectable Anglo-Saxon word, used in the best of circles. I heartily recommend that you use it for just such occasions.

Late, Late Show

Dear Ann: Our son goes with a girl 15. He's 16 and very adult for his age. The problem is the girl's parents. They insist that she be home by midnight. (She has permission to date weekends only.) However, they think it's perfectly all right for a young man to stay and visit as long as he likes.

The only thing that matters is that their daughter is at home on time.

Our son has been rolling in at 3:30 and 4 in the morning. We don't think this is right. What can we do about it? We can't tell the girl's parents to kick our son out.—TROUBLED PARENTS.

Dear Troubled Parents: It's not good for a young man to park himself at a young lady's home until dawn. The girl's parents should impose some sort of curfew on her visitors. Since they are not so inclined, it's up to you to give your son orders. Tell him he must be home by 1 a.m. This is ample time for fond farewells.

Confidentially

TO SCARED STIFF: Change the locks on your doors. This is far better than being as nervous as a long-tailed cat in a room full of rocking chairs.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Consideration May Halt Disobedience

Parents often write of the tot or older child who embarrasses them before company. Of a boy, nine, his mother writes from Ohio: "He does average or better work at school and at home is often helpful. He has been exposed to good manners. He engages in many activities with other children. "Our greatest problem with him is when we have company, which is not very frequent, as my husband and I both work full time. But then he defies anything we ask him to do. He openly disobeys, remaining stubborn about even speaking to the individuals who are visiting. In most cases, they are friends who are closest to us and to him, the ones that are thoughtful of him on birthdays and other occasions."

HERE'S ABOUT the way I answered her:

The time to teach your boy to obey is when you don't have company. Do it so well then that you need not worry about his behavior when guests are present.

If he openly disobeys something you tell him not to do when you have guests, just isolate him for a half hour or so.

In your everyday experiences decide on the few things you are sure he must do. If you are not sure he will do them, don't ask him but tell him, and then set a penalty.

But if you do ask him to do anything, let him choose and don't get mad if he doesn't do it. Act toward a request of him as if you had made the same request of your husband.

I doubt whether he means to be disobedient about having gracious ways toward guests.

HE MAY feel shy and be embarrassed when you command him to talk to them.

Why command him then?

Indeed, treat him as a precious person and be so gracious and considerate that he will feel comfortable and enjoy conversing with them.

When he does talk, don't butt in. Be an appreciative listener.

I am sure you and Dad will find more ways to enjoy him and have good times with him after you have a few matters of control settled.

Sometimes when children drop in on their way to school, or even at other times, a child from six to 12 may act or speak in a very ugly way to his parents. He's trying to show off to the other children. The embarrassed parent may hardly know what to do then.

AS EARLY thereafter as possible, she should privately discuss his ugly ways with him and make clear that he must correct them or she may have to humiliate him the next time such happens. It's not good for her or the child to let this go on.

Could Disagree With Report

PUC Told There's Nothing It Can Do In Train Wreck

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission has been advised there is nothing for it to do in connection with the Jan. 10 train derailment at Wellington which killed four persons.

But the three commissioners could disagree with the report which they received from the commission's Railroad Department. Among other things, it says:

"There was no evidence of neglect or violation of state law over which this commission has jurisdiction."

The New York Central passenger train was headed for Cleveland when the wreck occurred. Engineer Henry W. Kirstein was fired last Friday "for his responsibility as developed by . . . investigations."

In Indianapolis, W. L. Helms, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he plans to appeal the firing of Kirstein to the National Labor Relations Board.

The railroad conducted closed hearings on the wreck in Cleveland earlier this month. Representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission were present, as were the men who prepared the report from the Utilities Commission's Railroad Department — Chief Charles A. Hamman, inspectors Eli Magovich and Victor Vasvari, and Assistant Atty. Gen. Herbert T. Maher.

Commissioners Edward J. Kenealy, Frances McGovern and Everett Krueger Jr. are studying the report, which is accompanied by a five-volume, 600-page transcript of the Feb. 8-12 hearings in Cleveland.

They must also decide whether to grant a request from Lorain County Prosecutor Paul J. Mikus for a public hearing into causes of the derailment.

Included in the Railroad Department's report are these conclusions:

"The evidence adduced at the hearing did not disclose any defects in the functioning of the brakes when application was made." (The engineer was quoted by authorities as saying the brakes apparently weren't working properly.)

"The only defective piece of equipment was the lead diesel unit . . . that piece of equipment was the speedometer, which became inoperative in the area between Selma and Parker City, Ind., approximately 80 miles west of Bellefontaine, Ohio."

"Signal indications were properly set and were not disputed."

Teachers Get Salary Raises

EAST PALESTINE — Some 80 teachers in the city school system were granted annual pay increases ranging up to $200 at a meeting of the Board of Education Wednesday night.

Supt. T. R. Hersh explained some teachers have already received the board's maximum increase allotment for the present year, and will not be eligible for the new increase until next year.

Those faculty members entitled to the new hike will get $100 for the present term, and the rest starting with the next term in September.

Because some instructors have already received up to the $300 annual increaase permitted by the board, they will receive no increase for the present time.

The pay hike raises the minimum starting salary of new instructors with bachelor degrees without teaching experience from $3,700 to $3,900.

The 8 custodians at the 6 schools in the system were granted $100 annual increases, also to be split between this year and next, and the 9 school bus drivers were given $25 increases. Drivers making the kindergarten runs were authorized another $25.

The 3 cafeteria workers — 2 at Unity and one at Negley, were granted $55 annual pay increases.

Hersh estimated the total cost of the salary revision will be about $18,000, the funds almost exhausting the 3-mill operating levy approved by voters in November.

Executive Board Of BPW Meets

A telegram was sent to Mrs. Agnes Merritt of Columbus, state president, in honor of the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Ohio Federation of BPW Clubs.

Committee chairmen were advised they must mail annual reports to the state group by March 15. Each chairman will also handle reservations for her committee for the spring meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs April 6 at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

Miss Gladys DeBolt, chairman, announced the deadline is Tuesday for the national essay contest on "What Does Federation Mean to Me."

Plans were completed for the next dinner meeting March 9 at the Travelers Hotel. The national security committee, with Mrs. Mary Bulger chairman, will have charge of the program.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be March 22 and the place is pending.

Agrees To Drop Plan

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) —Yellow Springs has offered to drop its plan to construct a gravity-flow sewer line through Antioch College's scenic Glen Helen, ending a year-old dispute. In return the college offered the village water rights in Glen Helen, a site for sewage treatment and disposal plants and, when necessary, a water treatment plant.

2 By Convicted Murderers

Ohio High Court Rejects Bids To Free 5 Prisoners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five habeas corpus requests seeking the release of prisoners, two of them convicted murderers, were rejected by the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday.

The court said the men could not obtain review of their cases by habeas corpus action when an adequate remedy was available through appeal.

Filing the actions were Joseph White of Cleveland, serving a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Essie Walker in a fight during a party. He claimed he was indicted for the first-degree murder of Eddie Walker, an incorrect name, Feb. 8, 1953. White's wife also was killed in the ruckus.

Other actions rejected were those of Charles F. Hanovich, serving a life sentence in the killing of Cleveland policeman Carl Sherman on March 6, 1929; Matthew T. Creagh, sentenced in the armed robbery of a Lorain supermarket on May 17, 1957; Grant Riggs, sentenced in 1944 for burglary and larceny in Butler County and extradited from Indiana as a parole violator, and Nathaniel Nelson, sentenced in 1958 for armed robbery in Franklin County.

The high court also stood by its decision that to block a liquor license for a tavern less than 500 feet from a church, the objections must be supported by substantial evidence. A rehearing was denied.

The 5-2 decision last Jan. 27 reversed state refusal, upheld by lower courts, to issue a permit for the C. and O. Restaurant in Fostoria.

The court said the objection of the First Church of the Nazarene, 325 feet from the restaurant, was not supported by reliable, probative and substantial evidence and could not block the permit.

Statute requires the liquor director to decide on the basis of evidence whether to allow a license within 500 feet of a church, school, library, or public playground, the court said.

The court let stand the reversal of Donald Stephens' conviction on drunk driving charges after police found his unoccupied car in a ditch at Aurora, Portage County.

Police said they found Stephens walking on Ohio 18 in an unsteady manner after the accident but an appellate court ruled that testimony at the trial did not show he was driving.

Among other actions the Supreme Court:

Stood by its decision upholding the conviction of Mrs. Gertrude Gevaras, operator of Jean's Funny House, Cleveland, for possessing and exhibiting obscene movies. She challenged the constitutionality of an Ohio law under which officials confiscated films from coin-operated peep-show machines.

Agreed to review an appeal by the state tax commissioner from partial exemptions allowed by Stark County courts on an $11,677 sales and use tax assessment against the Ohio Ferro - Alloys Corp. for materials purchased between 1954 and 1957.

Let stand reversal by Allen County Appellate Court of a workmen's compensation claim allowed Maurice Wreede for injuries received while unloading beef shipped to a Lima supermarket by Swift & Co.

Greed to review dismissal by Athens County courts to Clyde T. Bobo's suit against Blaine A. Bell, a minor, for damages resulting from a traffic accident in 1956.

Former City Ferro Aide Gets New Post

Richard L. Custis, who was manager of advertising and sales promotion for the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. until it was sold by the Ferro Corp., has been named corporate advertising manager at Ferro's headquarters in Cleveland.

The company said it has expanded its marketing division in appointing Custis and Douglas P. Brush, the latter to serve as public and product information manager.

Custis was with a Cleveland firm before joining Patterson in 1955 and is a mechanical engineering graduate of Purdue University. He resides in Shaker Heights. Brush joined Ferro in 1957 as a specialist in public relations and publicity. He lives in Solon.

Ferro retained the Patterson Refractories Division when disposing of the foundry firm last year. It also operates the Louthan Manufacturing Co. in East End.

Auto Kills Man

EATON, Ohio (AP)—George W. Hardin, 40, of Rt. 2, West Alexandria, was struck and killed by a car while walking in U.S. 35 near West Alexandria, the sheriff's office reported.

South Side Post Passes Inspection

South Side American Legion Post 952 of near Hookstown passed inspection held Wednesday evening by two deputy Beaver County commanders, Jack Moore, adjutant, said.

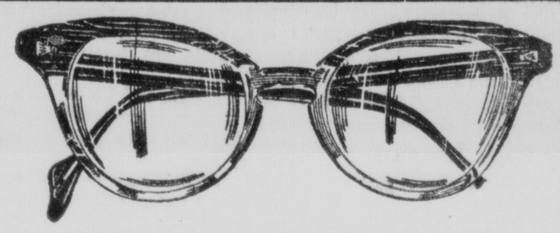

William Fozssett and William Laughlin, both of Monaca, were the inspecting officers. They announced that a county meeting will be held March 18 at Beaver Falls.

The post approved a donation of $25 to the Firemen's Relief Association of Rochester, which is helping sponsor a mobile Salvation Army unit to be used countywide.

Could Disagree With Report

PUC Told There's Nothing It Can Do In Train Wreck

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission has been advised there is nothing for it to do in connection with the Jan. 10 train derailment at Wellington which killed four persons.

But the three commissioners could disagree with the report which they received from the commission's Railroad Department. Among other things, it says:

"There was no evidence of neglect or violation of state law over which this commission has jurisdiction."

The New York Central passenger train was headed for Cleveland when the wreck occurred. Engineer Henry W. Kirstein was fired last Friday "for his responsibility as developed by . . . investigations."

In Indianapolis, W. L. Helms, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he plans to appeal the firing of Kirstein to the National Labor Relations Board.

The railroad conducted closed hearings on the wreck in Cleveland earlier this month. Representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission were present, as were the men who prepared the report from the Utilities Commission's Railroad Department — Chief Charles A. Hamman, inspectors Eli Magovich and Victor Vasvari, and Assistant Atty. Gen. Herbert T. Maher.

Commissioners Edward J. Kenealy, Frances McGovern and Everett Krueger Jr. are studying the report, which is accompanied by a five-volume, 600-page transcript of the Feb. 8-12 hearings in Cleveland.

They must also decide whether to grant a request from Lorain County Prosecutor Paul J. Mikus for a public hearing into causes of the derailment.

Included in the Railroad Department's report are these conclusions:

"The evidence adduced at the hearing did not disclose any defects in the functioning of the brakes when application was made." (The engineer was quoted by authorities as saying the brakes apparently weren't working properly.)

"The only defective piece of equipment was the lead diesel unit . . . that piece of equipment was the speedometer, which became inoperative in the area between Selma and Parker City, Ind., approximately 80 miles west of Bellefontaine, Ohio."

"Signal indications were properly set and were not disputed."

Teachers Get Salary Raises

EAST PALESTINE — Some 80 teachers in the city school system were granted annual pay increases ranging up to $200 at a meeting of the Board of Education Wednesday night.

Supt. T. R. Hersh explained some teachers have already received the board's maximum increase allotment for the present year, and will not be eligible for the new increase until next year.

Those faculty members entitled to the new hike will get $100 for the present term, and the rest starting with the next term in September.

Because some instructors have already received up to the $300 annual increaase permitted by the board, they will receive no increase for the present time.

The pay hike raises the minimum starting salary of new instructors with bachelor degrees without teaching experience from $3,700 to $3,900.

The 8 custodians at the 6 schools in the system were granted $100 annual increases, also to be split between this year and next, and the 9 school bus drivers were given $25 increases. Drivers making the kindergarten runs were authorized another $25.

The 3 cafeteria workers — 2 at Unity and one at Negley, were granted $55 annual pay increases.

Hersh estimated the total cost of the salary revision will be about $18,000, the funds almost exhausting the 3-mill operating levy approved by voters in November.

Executive Board Of BPW Meets

A telegram was sent to Mrs. Agnes Merritt of Columbus, state president, in honor of the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Ohio Federation of BPW Clubs.

Committee chairmen were advised they must mail annual reports to the state group by March 15. Each chairman will also handle reservations for her committee for the spring meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs April 6 at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

Miss Gladys DeBolt, chairman, announced the deadline is Tuesday for the national essay contest on "What Does Federation Mean to Me."

Plans were completed for the next dinner meeting March 9 at the Travelers Hotel. The national security committee, with Mrs. Mary Bulger chairman, will have charge of the program.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be March 22 and the place is pending.

Agrees To Drop Plan

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) —Yellow Springs has offered to drop its plan to construct a gravity-flow sewer line through Antioch College's scenic Glen Helen, ending a year-old dispute. In return the college offered the village water rights in Glen Helen, a site for sewage treatment and disposal plants and, when necessary, a water treatment plant.

2 By Convicted Murderers

Ohio High Court Rejects Bids To Free 5 Prisoners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five habeas corpus requests seeking the release of prisoners, two of them convicted murderers, were rejected by the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday.

The court said the men could not obtain review of their cases by habeas corpus action when an adequate remedy was available through appeal.

Filing the actions were Joseph White of Cleveland, serving a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Essie Walker in a fight during a party. He claimed he was indicted for the first-degree murder of Eddie Walker, an incorrect name, Feb. 8, 1953. White's wife also was killed in the ruckus.

Other actions rejected were those of Charles F. Hanovich, serving a life sentence in the killing of Cleveland policeman Carl Sherman on March 6, 1929; Matthew T. Creagh, sentenced in the armed robbery of a Lorain supermarket on May 17, 1957; Grant Riggs, sentenced in 1944 for burglary and larceny in Butler County and extradited from Indiana as a parole violator, and Nathaniel Nelson, sentenced in 1958 for armed robbery in Franklin County.

The high court also stood by its decision that to block a liquor license for a tavern less than 500 feet from a church, the objections must be supported by substantial evidence. A rehearing was denied.

The 5-2 decision last Jan. 27 reversed state refusal, upheld by lower courts, to issue a permit for the C. and O. Restaurant in Fostoria.

The court said the objection of the First Church of the Nazarene, 325 feet from the restaurant, was not supported by reliable, probative and substantial evidence and could not block the permit.

Statute requires the liquor director to decide on the basis of evidence whether to allow a license within 500 feet of a church, school, library, or public playground, the court said.

The court let stand the reversal of Donald Stephens' conviction on drunk driving charges after police found his unoccupied car in a ditch at Aurora, Portage County.

Police said they found Stephens walking on Ohio 18 in an unsteady manner after the accident but an appellate court ruled that testimony at the trial did not show he was driving.

Among other actions the Supreme Court:

Stood by its decision upholding the conviction of Mrs. Gertrude Gevaras, operator of Jean's Funny House, Cleveland, for possessing and exhibiting obscene movies. She challenged the constitutionality of an Ohio law under which officials confiscated films from coin-operated peep-show machines.

Agreed to review an appeal by the state tax commissioner from partial exemptions allowed by Stark County courts on an $11,677 sales and use tax assessment against the Ohio Ferro - Alloys Corp. for materials purchased between 1954 and 1957.

Let stand reversal by Allen County Appellate Court of a workmen's compensation claim allowed Maurice Wreede for injuries received while unloading beef shipped to a Lima supermarket by Swift & Co.

Greed to review dismissal by Athens County courts to Clyde T. Bobo's suit against Blaine A. Bell, a minor, for damages resulting from a traffic accident in 1956.

Former City Ferro Aide Gets New Post

Richard L. Custis, who was manager of advertising and sales promotion for the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. until it was sold by the Ferro Corp., has been named corporate advertising manager at Ferro's headquarters in Cleveland.

The company said it has expanded its marketing division in appointing Custis and Douglas P. Brush, the latter to serve as public and product information manager.

Custis was with a Cleveland firm before joining Patterson in 1955 and is a mechanical engineering graduate of Purdue University. He resides in Shaker Heights. Brush joined Ferro in 1957 as a specialist in public relations and publicity. He lives in Solon.

Ferro retained the Patterson Refractories Division when disposing of the foundry firm last year. It also operates the Louthan Manufacturing Co. in East End.

Auto Kills Man

EATON, Ohio (AP)—George W. Hardin, 40, of Rt. 2, West Alexandria, was struck and killed by a car while walking in U.S. 35 near West Alexandria, the sheriff's office reported.

South Side Post Passes Inspection

South Side American Legion Post 952 of near Hookstown passed inspection held Wednesday evening by two deputy Beaver County commanders, Jack Moore, adjutant, said.

William Fozssett and William Laughlin, both of Monaca, were the inspecting officers. They announced that a county meeting will be held March 18 at Beaver Falls.

The post approved a donation of $25 to the Firemen's Relief Association of Rochester, which is helping sponsor a mobile Salvation Army unit to be used countywide.

Freed's Nip Alex's, 63-62, To Gain 2nd Half League Title

Anderson's Foul, Bevo's 37 Points Provide Victory

Joe Anderson's foul shot with only three seconds remaining in the game gave Bob Freed's a 63-62 victory over Alex's Carry-Out and the second half championship in the City Basketball League Wednesday night at East Junior High.

The victory was Freed's fifth straight in the second half of play and set the stage for the league championship contest on March 4 at Memorial Auditorium when Freed's and Alex's, first half champs, will meet in the showdown battle.

Wellsville, which finished the second half with a 4-1 record, was the only team that could have tied Freed's. Wellsville defeated Chester 73-52 and in one other contest Midland CIO handed Bright's Real Estate a 70-66 setback.

It took a 37-point performance by Bevo Francis, the former Wellsville and Rio Grande star, and Anderson's foul shot to pull Freed's through for a victory last night.

Francis dropped in 13 field goals and was deadly from the foul line with 11 of 13 chances. Bob Bickle added 15 points to Freed's attack.

A tight contest all the way, Alex's trailed 17-11 at the end of the first period and 35-29 at halftime and was still behind 48-44 after three periods before rallying to catch Freed's at 62-62.

Between Baldwin's 29 and Giles' 27, the two cagers outscored Chester themselves.

Dave Nichol, South High basketball coach, fired in 23 points to pace Midland in its third win of the season.

Midland trailed at halftime but bounced back in the third quarter to grab a 52-42 lead.

Hurt early this season when several key players quit the team, Weirton has lost 14 straight games and the record to date is 2-16.

The only two victories recorded by the Weirton club came at the start of the season before such stars as Bill Tucker, Eugene Gregory and Ron Brown quit the team.

Since then the Weirton club, which posted a fine record last season and advanced to the regional play in West Virginia, hasn't been the same.

Carey will start captain Floyd Shuler, the lone veteran of the outfit and standing 5-foot-10, Bard Hickman, 6-foot-1, John Nieman, 6-foot, Lorie McQueen, 6-foot, and Norman Ellsworth, 5-foot-10.

Meanwhile, Coach Jim Harris of East Liverpool is still concerned about Kenny Cunningham's ankle. Harris said his star has been practicing all week.

Cunningham played the full 32 minutes in the Dover game but didn't move well.

80 Are Expected At St. Stephen's Basketball Fete

About 80 are expected to attend a banquet honoring the St. Stephen's basketball team Monday night at 5 p. m. at the church.

Judge Louis Tobin will be guest speaker with Merrill Hall as toastmaster.

Fergie Kind, coach of the St. Stephens team, said the starting time had been moved up so as not to conflict with the East Liverpool-Steubenville tournament game at 7 p. m.

Mantle Hints He May Be Holdout

He may even be a holdout this season for the first time in his baseball career, the slugging Yankee outfielder said Wednesday.

The New York club's infielders and outfielders are due to report by next Tuesday at the Yankee spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. Technically Mantle wouldn't be considered a holdout, however, until they take to the field a day later.

"They cut me more than I thought they ought to," he said.

Since then neither side has made a public move. The word among baseball men was that the Yankees proposed to pay Mantle $15,000 less than the $75,000 he drew last season.

Westgate, Central Eliminated

Chester, Wellsville In Jr. Finals

Chester and Wellsville moved into the finals of the Junior High basketball tournament after surviving semi-final tests Wednesday at Memorial Auditorium.

These two district rivals will meet for the championship Saturday at 3:15 p. m., preceeded by a consolation contest at 2 p. m. between Westgate and Steubenville.

Chester, after pulling the big upset of the tourney in downing favored East Junior High, had a narrow escape Wednesday.

Wellsville, beaten twice in regular season by Westgate, dealt the East Liverpool entry a 28-22 setback.

The Chester-Steubenville battle was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way. With 30 seconds remaining, Chester showed a 38-37 lead but Chuck Mullen and Bob Myers stole the ball on consecutive plays and scored layups to gain the decision.

Chester trailed at halftime, 20-18, but jumped back on top at the end of the third quarter, 28-27.

Jim Tridico paced the young Panthers with 11 points but Mullens added 10 and Conkle dropped in 9.

Kocal's 12 points topped the Steubenville five.

Wellsville jumped off to an early 11-4 lead at the end of the first quarter, then protected its lead the rest of the way.

Westgate pulled within one point, 13-12, at halftime but a bad third quarter by the local five found Wellsville pulling out to a 23-16 margin after three periods.

Baldwin's 12 points and Powell's 11 markers sparked the winners while Oliver and Baker netted 6 each for the losers.

Freed's Nip Alex's, 63-62, To Gain 2nd Half League Title

Anderson's Foul, Bevo's 37 Points Provide Victory

Joe Anderson's foul shot with only three seconds remaining in the game gave Bob Freed's a 63-62 victory over Alex's Carry-Out and the second half championship in the City Basketball League Wednesday night at East Junior High.

The victory was Freed's fifth straight in the second half of play and set the stage for the league championship contest on March 4 at Memorial Auditorium when Freed's and Alex's, first half champs, will meet in the showdown battle.

Wellsville, which finished the second half with a 4-1 record, was the only team that could have tied Freed's. Wellsville defeated Chester 73-52 and in one other contest Midland CIO handed Bright's Real Estate a 70-66 setback.

It took a 37-point performance by Bevo Francis, the former Wellsville and Rio Grande star, and Anderson's foul shot to pull Freed's through for a victory last night.

Francis dropped in 13 field goals and was deadly from the foul line with 11 of 13 chances. Bob Bickle added 15 points to Freed's attack.

A tight contest all the way, Alex's trailed 17-11 at the end of the first period and 35-29 at halftime and was still behind 48-44 after three periods before rallying to catch Freed's at 62-62.

Dan Baldwin and Vince Giles, a pair of high scoring performers, were the whole show in Wellsville's victory over Chester.

Between Baldwin's 29 and Giles' 27, the two cagers outscored Chester themselves.

Dave Nichol, South High basketball coach, fired in 23 points to pace Midland in its third win of the season.

Midland trailed at halftime but bounced back in the third quarter to grab a 52-42 lead.

Hurt early this season when several key players quit the team, Weirton has lost 14 straight games and the record to date is 2-16.

The only two victories recorded by the Weirton club came at the start of the season before such stars as Bill Tucker, Eugene Gregory and Ron Brown quit the team.

Since then the Weirton club, which posted a fine record last season and advanced to the regional play in West Virginia, hasn't been the same.

Carey will start captain Floyd Shuler, the lone veteran of the outfit and standing 5-foot-10, Bard Hickman, 6-foot-1, John Nieman, 6-foot, Lorie McQueen, 6-foot, and Norman Ellsworth, 5-foot-10.

Meanwhile, Coach Jim Harris of East Liverpool is still concerned about Kenny Cunningham's ankle. Harris said his star has been practicing all week.

Cunningham played the full 32 minutes in the Dover game but didn't move well.

80 Are Expected At St. Stephen's Basketball Fete

About 80 are expected to attend a banquet honoring the St. Stephen's basketball team Monday night at 5 p. m. at the church.

Judge Louis Tobin will be guest speaker with Merrill Hall as toastmaster.

Fergie Kind, coach of the St. Stephens team, said the starting time had been moved up so as not to conflict with the East Liverpool-Steubenville tournament game at 7 p. m.

Mantle Hints He May Be Holdout

He may even be a holdout this season for the first time in his baseball career, the slugging Yankee outfielder said Wednesday.

The New York club's infielders and outfielders are due to report by next Tuesday at the Yankee spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. Technically Mantle wouldn't be considered a holdout, however, until they take to the field a day later.

"They cut me more than I thought they ought to," he said.

Since then neither side has made a public move. The word among baseball men was that the Yankees proposed to pay Mantle $15,000 less than the $75,000 he drew last season.

Westgate, Central Eliminated

Chester, Wellsville In Jr. Finals

Chester and Wellsville moved into the finals of the Junior High basketball tournament after surviving semi-final tests Wednesday at Memorial Auditorium.

These two district rivals will meet for the championship Saturday at 3:15 p. m., preceeded by a consolation contest at 2 p. m. between Westgate and Steubenville.

The Chester-Steubenville battle was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way. With 30 seconds remaining, Chester showed a 38-37 lead but Chuck Mullen and Bob Myers stole the ball on consecutive plays and scored layups to gain the decision.

Kocal's 12 points topped the Steubenville five.

Wellsville jumped off to an early 11-4 lead at the end of the first quarter, then protected its lead the rest of the way.

Westgate pulled within one point, 13-12, at halftime but a bad third quarter by the local five found Wellsville pulling out to a 23-16 margin after three periods.

Tonti's Pace Two Leagues . . .

While Tonti's picked up four points over Owls Club, Homer Laughlin dropped two games and total pins to CIO 1212 and trails 23-19.

A YEAR AGO Gengarellas ruled several league roosts in East Liverpool, but this season Tonti's has taken over, at least for the time being.

MILLIRONS is still keeping pace in the Federal League with a four-point edge over Reark's and Riverview Hotel, locked for second at 25 points.

Millirons won two of three games, but lost one and total pins to Vernon Dell to leave room for Reark's and Riverview to gain some ground.

Victoria Park Favored In Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI (AP) — Victoria Park was a 6 to 5 favorite today to win Saturday's $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes regardless of who rides the pigeon-toed Canadian colt in the mile and a furlong feature.

Trainer Horatio Luro said there was a strong possibility that Eric Guerin, 35-year-old jockey who rode Jet Pilot in the 1947 Kentucky Derby, will be on Victoria Park in the first big test for derby age colts this year.

"Guerin is an experienced rider and rode our colt to victory in the Remsen Stakes at Aqueduct last November," said the trainer.

Sweden's Hockey Forces Tie Russians In Upset

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Sweden's resounding upset tie with the Soviet Union's defending hockey champions has restored some zip to the Winter Olympics. It pointed up today's clash between America's dark-horse forces and Canada's beefed-up sextet.

"With a break we could go all the way," said Jack Riley of Army, the coach of the Yank puckchasers. "We have hopes of knocking off the Russians. We beat Canada in 1956 and maybe we can do it again."

The Americans, who trounced Germany 9-1 for their second second straight victory Wednesday, had decisively beaten Sweden 6-3 in the first round of the round robin tournament. Canada whaled Czechoslovakia 4-0 after Sweden's sextet held the Soviets to a 2-2 draw.

It was the first time in Olympic competition that the Soviet skaters had to settle for less than a win. They went unbeaten four years ago, whipping both Canada and the U.S.A.

The host team takes on Canada at 6:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time). In the other games the Soviets play Germany at 4 p.m. and Sweden faces Czechoslovakia at 9 p.m. The other playoff matches of the tourney will be played Saturday, when the Yanks meet the Soviets, and Sunday, when the Soviets and Canada collide.

Bill Cleary, 25-year-old Boston insurance man and veteran of the 1956 Olympic team, scored four goals, three of them on solo dashes, and received credit for two assists in the rout of Germany. Nils Nilsson, a 23-year-old salesman,, blasted the two goals that earned Sweden the tie.

Hockey was taken over as the major lure here as the Soviets continue to roll up their overwhelming point score in the unofficial team race. The Soviets, with five gold medals, have 120 points. Germany is second with 52½ points, the U.S.A. third with 44 and Sweden fourth with 39.

In the two finals Wednesday, the Soviets collected their fifth gold medal on Eugeni Grishin's world-record equalling 40.3-second performance in the 500-meter speed skating, and Austria, the stronghold of Alpine skiing, finally won its first championship.

Ernst Hinterseer, a 27-year-old Austrian farmer and a last-minute replacement for one of his nation's disappointing aces, made two trips down the tricky 67-gate KT22 mountain course in a total of 2:08.9 to beat his countryman, 20-year-old Hias Leitner, by 1.4 seconds in the men's slalom. The 1,935-foot course dropped 708 feet.

Grishin, a 28-year-old Army lieutenant, stumbled on his last turn but still managed to equal his world record and Olympic winning time of 1956. Bill Disney, 27-year-old rug cleaner from Alhambra, Calif., was second in 40.3 seconds. Grishin's temmate, Rafael Grach, won the bronze medal in 40.4.

Dic McDermott of Essexville, Mich., was seventh in 40.9 and Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., tied for tenth in 41.2.

In the slalom, the Americans wound up this way: 9th, Tom Corcoran, Beaconsfield, Quebec, 2:14.7 and 37th, Frank Brown, McCall, Idaho, 3:01.3. Charles Ferries, Houghton, Mich., originally finished 12th in 2:18.2, but was disqualified. Jim Barrier, of Kalispell, Montana, failed to finish the second run. He had 1:13.4 for the first descent.

There was no hope at all for the Yankees in today's two championship events—the men's 40-kilometer 24.85 miles cross-country relay race and the men's 5,000-meter speed skating.

The Soviets were expected to go on another point spree in the speed skating. They have copped four of the five speed skating titles decided so far—three of them by the Soviet girls.

David Jenkins, world champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., slightly trailed Czechoslovakia's Karl Divin, the 1958-9 European king, and Alain Giletti, France's reigning European titlist, after the completion of the first three compulsory firures of the men's figure skating championship.

At the end of three figures, Divin, not in Jenkins' free-skating class, had 415 points; Giletti 403; Jenkins 400.2; Don Jackson of Canada 392.0; Tim Brown of Berkeley, Calif., 389.9, and Robert Brewer of Alhambra, Calif., 380.5.

Howell To Quit As Giants Coach After '60 Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Next season will be the last for Jim Lee Howell as head coach of the New York Giants in the National Football League.

"I'm a naturally lazy and relaxed guy," said Howell Wednesday as he dropped a surprise bombshell of his resignation at a luncheon to introduce the new NFL commissioner, Pete Rozelle. "Although we lost only three games last fall, I couldn't forget the defeats."

Howell, 45, has led the club to three Eastern Division championships and one world championship in six years as head coach. The Giants lost the world title to Baltimore the last two years. After next year, he'll become personnel director for the Giants. At no cut in salary, now estimated at $22,000 a year.

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Tom Stith nailing 29 points, including two clutch fielders in the last 80 seconds, and brother Sam Stith adding 16, the Bonnies raced to their 13th straight Wednesday night — a 76-70 squeaker over tough Duquesne.

Now 16-3 and 10th-ranked nationally, the Bonnies have only to negotiate Niagara, St. Vincent (Pa) and Canisius to carry a string of 16 into the NIT opening March 10.

Tom, a 6-5 junior, has a 31.8 average while Sam, a 6-2 senior and a brilliant playmaker, is averaging 19.5 — a brother pace of 50.3. The NCAA service bureau's records show only four high scoring brother acts in the last 25 years with Johnny and Eddie O'Brien of Seattle the record family pair with a combined 45.1 per-game average in 1953.

Villanova and Dayton, slumping NIT teams, added victories while St. Joseph's (Pa) and Kansas State built their credentias toward NCAA tournament berths in the night's other important games.

Villanova broke a three-game losing string and built its record to 18-4 with a 74-52 rout of Toledo of the Mid-American Conference. Dayton (17-6) also snapped a string of three losses and severed Xavier of Ohio's six-game win streak, 91-82.

St. Joseph's (17-5) tied idle La-Salle for the Middle Atlantic Conference lead at 6-1 with an effortless 83-63 whipping of Bucknell and can clinch the title with its extra game — against Lafayette next week. Kansas State, after its third straight Big Eight Conference championship and NCAA berth, thumpd co-leader Kansas 68-57, dumping the Jayhawks into a three-way second place tie with Colorado and Oklahoma. The Sooners joined the company Wednesday night, beating Oklahoma State 59-53.

Tonti's Pace Two Leagues . . .

Tonti's Hotel, which took over the National League leadership two weeks ago, increased its margin over rival Homer Laughlin Monday night.

While Tonti's picked up four points over Owls Club, Homer Laughlin dropped two games and total pins to CIO 1212 and trails 23-19.

A YEAR AGO Gengarellas ruled several league roosts in East Liverpool, but this season Tonti's has taken over, at least for the time being.

Jack Womer's 246 was high, but Al Sayre turned in 243 and 214 games for a 457 total for two lines. Nicholson fired a 245, while Ralph Yanni showed a 234 and 222.

MILLIRONS is still keeping pace in the Federal League with a four-point edge over Reark's and Riverview Hotel, locked for second at 25 points.

Millirons won two of three games, but lost one and total pins to Vernon Dell to leave room for Reark's and Riverview to gain some ground.

Kayle Reark's 227 was the high single score of the evening.

Splits-To-Spares Department . . .

THE CITY TEN Pin League turned in a host of split conversions, with Wayne Berresford collecting the 4-5, J. Marrelli 6-7, M. Gipner 5-10, Jim Gerace 3-7-10, P. Rayburn 5-7, C. DeLong 5-7, W. Brokaw 5-6, J. Jack 5-8-10, R. Skidmore 3-7 and C. Spencer 6-7-10.

Victoria Park Favored In Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI (AP) — Victoria Park was a 6 to 5 favorite today to win Saturday's $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes regardless of who rides the pigeon-toed Canadian colt in the mile and a furlong feature.

Trainer Horatio Luro said there was a strong possibility that Eric Guerin, 35-year-old jockey who rode Jet Pilot in the 1947 Kentucky Derby, will be on Victoria Park in the first big test for derby age colts this year.

"Guerin is an experienced rider and rode our colt to victory in the Remsen Stakes at Aqueduct last November," said the trainer.

Sweden's Hockey Forces Tie Russians In Upset

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Sweden's resounding upset tie with the Soviet Union's defending hockey champions has restored some zip to the Winter Olympics. It pointed up today's clash between America's dark-horse forces and Canada's beefed-up sextet.

"With a break we could go all the way," said Jack Riley of Army, the coach of the Yank puckchasers. "We have hopes of knocking off the Russians. We beat Canada in 1956 and maybe we can do it again."

The Americans, who trounced Germany 9-1 for their second second straight victory Wednesday, had decisively beaten Sweden 6-3 in the first round of the round robin tournament. Canada whaled Czechoslovakia 4-0 after Sweden's sextet held the Soviets to a 2-2 draw.

It was the first time in Olympic competition that the Soviet skaters had to settle for less than a win. They went unbeaten four years ago, whipping both Canada and the U.S.A.

The host team takes on Canada at 6:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time). In the other games the Soviets play Germany at 4 p.m. and Sweden faces Czechoslovakia at 9 p.m. The other playoff matches of the tourney will be played Saturday, when the Yanks meet the Soviets, and Sunday, when the Soviets and Canada collide.

Bill Cleary, 25-year-old Boston insurance man and veteran of the 1956 Olympic team, scored four goals, three of them on solo dashes, and received credit for two assists in the rout of Germany. Nils Nilsson, a 23-year-old salesman, blasted the two goals that earned Sweden the tie.

Hockey was taken over as the major lure here as the Soviets continue to roll up their overwhelming point score in the unofficial team race. The Soviets, with five gold medals, have 120 points. Germany is second with 52½ points, the U.S.A. third with 44 and Sweden fourth with 39.

In the two finals Wednesday, the Soviets collected their fifth gold medal on Eugeni Grishin's world-record equalling 40.3-second performance in the 500-meter speed skating, and Austria, the stronghold of Alpine skiing, finally won its first championship.

Ernst Hinterseer, a 27-year-old Austrian farmer and a last-minute replacement for one of his nation's disappointing aces, made two trips down the tricky 67-gate KT22 mountain course in a total of 2:08.9 to beat his countryman, 20-year-old Hias Leitner, by 1.4 seconds in the men's slalom. The 1,935-foot course dropped 708 feet.

Grishin, a 28-year-old Army lieutenant, stumbled on his last turn but still managed to equal his world record and Olympic winning time of 1956. Bill Disney, 27-year-old rug cleaner from Alhambra, Calif., was second in 40.3 seconds. Grishin's temmate, Rafael Grach, won the bronze medal in 40.4.

Dic McDermott of Essexville, Mich., was seventh in 40.9 and Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., tied for tenth in 41.2.

In the slalom, the Americans wound up this way: 9th, Tom Corcoran, Beaconsfield, Quebec, 2:14.7 and 37th, Frank Brown, McCall, Idaho, 3:01.3. Charles Ferries, Houghton, Mich., originally finished 12th in 2:18.2, but was disqualified. Jim Barrier, of Kalispell, Montana, failed to finish the second run. He had 1:13.4 for the first descent.

There was no hope at all for the Yankees in today's two championship events—the men's 40-kilometer 24.85 miles cross-country relay race and the men's 5,000-meter speed skating.

Norway and Sweden were favored over Finland and the Soviets in the ski race.

The Soviets were expected to go on another point spree in the speed skating. They have copped four of the five speed skating titles decided so far—three of them by the Soviet girls.

David Jenkins, world champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., slightly trailed Czechoslovakia's Karl Divin, the 1958-9 European king, and Alain Giletti, France's reigning European titlist, after the completion of the first three compulsory firures of the men's figure skating championship.

At the end of three figures, Divin, not in Jenkins' free-skating class, had 415 points; Giletti 403; Jenkins 400.2; Don Jackson of Canada 392.0; Tim Brown of Berkeley, Calif., 389.9, and Robert Brewer of Alhambra, Calif., 380.5.

Howell To Quit As Giants Coach After '60 Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Next season will be the last for Jim Lee Howell as head coach of the New York Giants in the National Football League.

"I'm a naturally lazy and relaxed guy," said Howell Wednesday as he dropped a surprise bombshell of his resignation at a luncheon to introduce the new NFL commissioner, Pete Rozelle. "Although we lost only three games last fall, I couldn't forget the defeats."

Howell, 45, has led the club to three Eastern Division championships and one world championship in six years as head coach. The Giants lost the world title to Baltimore the last two years. After next year, he'll become personnel director for the Giants. At no cut in salary, now estimated at $22,000 a year.

President Jack Mara said there would be no naming of a successor until after next season.

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Bonaventure keeps building one of college basketball's top winning streaks while establishing Tom and Sam Stith as the most prolific brother pair on the court.

With Tom Stith nailing 29 points, including two clutch fielders in the last 80 seconds, and brother Sam Stith adding 16, the Bonnies raced to their 13th straight Wednesday night — a 76-70 squeaker over tough Duquesne.

Now 16-3 and 10th-ranked nationally, the Bonnies have only to negotiate Niagara, St. Vincent (Pa) and Canisius to carry a string of 16 into the NIT opening March 10.

Tom, a 6-5 junior, has a 31.8 average while Sam, a 6-2 senior and a brilliant playmaker, is averaging 19.5 — a brother pace of 50.3. The NCAA service bureau's records show only four high scoring brother acts in the last 25 years with Johnny and Eddie O'Brien of Seattle the record family pair with a combined 45.1 per-game average in 1953.

Villanova and Dayton, slumping NIT teams, added victories while St. Joseph's (Pa) and Kansas State built their credentias toward NCAA tournament berths in the night's other important games.

Villanova broke a three-game losing string and built its record to 18-4 with a 74-52 rout of Toledo of the Mid-American Conference. Dayton (17-6) also snapped a string of three losses and severed Xavier of Ohio's six-game win streak, 91-82.

St. Joseph's (17-5) tied idle La-Salle for the Middle Atlantic Conference lead at 6-1 with an effortless 83-63 whipping of Bucknell and can clinch the title with its extra game — against Lafayette next week. Kansas State, after its third straight Big Eight Conference championship and NCAA berth, thumpd co-leader Kansas 68-57, dumping the Jayhawks into a three-way second place tie with Colorado and Oklahoma. The Sooners joined the company Wednesday night, beating Oklahoma State 59-53.

Helen Hayes Not Part Of 'Lonely Years'

With all television pledged to "honesty," it behooves us to report that Helen Hayes will NOT be speaking from personal experience when she alerts viewers to "The Lonely Years" that accompany old age.

Marie Torre

It's next Tuesday, in the fifth presentation of CBS' high - minded "Woman" series, that Miss Hayes will take up the dilemma of the old and lonely, but it must be said, in the interests of veracity, that this is a problem she doesn't have.

In her case, the reverse is true. She is so near to the clank of crowds that in recent weeks Miss Hayes has been driven to "running away" with Jack Paar fervor, almost!

"I'VE BEEN chasing the sun these last few weeks," said Miss Hayes. "There was such a riot around the house I just had to get lost."

And SHE is going to tell us about "The Lonley Years"? Is television playing that old game of deception again?

"I, myself, might not be what you call a lonely woman," she allowed, "but I've seen enough through elderly people close to me to know something about it.

"It's a cruel and terrible thing. Aging people can be made to strive for something, strive for themselves, to stop vegetating and put meaning into their lives.

"This is the point of the show. When I read the script, I found it so exciting I didn't hesitate to take the job of hostess.

"I HOPE," she added, "that the truths we deal with in the program will make some people wince. I hope some people will identify themselves with the lonely souls in the program, even if it hurts. Maybe then they will do something about their lives."

Miss Hayes, ironically, will be encouraging people to leave the solitude she so often yearns for.

"I have," she said, "so many wonderful friends who keep taking me away from home! And I'm a homebody at heart! Oh, how I wish I could stop all this rushing about!"

"IT WAS an agreeable Bob Hope who acceded to the judgment of the NBC censor with respect to a Jack Paar joke in his show last week a taped program.

The network has taken issue with the words "got loaded" in Hope's description of the Paar walkout ("He walked off the show, got loaded, went home to Bronxville," etc.).

"We changed the line," said Hope, "to 'got a cab,' and it didn't hurt the gag at all. But NBC was so nervous about the whole thing. They even wanted me to phone Paar about it while he was in Los Angeles. I didn't see any reason to do that. The guy's got enough troubles. Besides, there was no malice in the joke.

"All I can say is, 'Thank God for Jack Paar!' He's given television the outstanding spectacular of the season. He's different. He's exciting. Next to him, Bette Davis looks like a flower girl."

SINGER Andy Williams, relegated to summer television in recent seasons, will have an April outing in an NBC special (April 16). . . .

What promises to be an excellent feature for young viewers will be introduced March 19 by "The Howdy Doody Show." To interest children in reading books for enjoyment, the show's star (Bob Smith) will recommend a group of books specially selected by the National Television Children's Book Committee, five books a month.

THE TROUBLE-RIDDEN television industry received information from an Elmo Roper study that augurs better times ahead. To wit, public opinion of television is on the upbeat.

Roper's educated opinion: "I have no doubt that, barring some other disclosures of other kinds of misconduct, the number of people critical of television will be reduced six months or a year from now."

Stark Judge Raps Bar, Plans Fight Of Disbarment

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Judge Paul G. Weber, under fire from the Stark County Bar Assn., says he will "fight disbarment with everything I have."

The judge attacked the bar Wednesday for making public its plans. He said this violated a rule of practice of the Ohio Supreme Court which required such matters to be kept private until filed in the Supreme Court.

The 61-year-old common pleas judge said he has "never been called before the bar or ever received any notice from them as to any matter involving myself.

Association president J. Leland Kerstetter of nearby Louisville said a committee has been appointed to determine whether disbarment proceedings will be started "on the grounds of misconduct in office." He did not elaborate.

The action apparently stemmed from an incident Friday in which court observers said the judge "created a scene" during naturalization ceremonies for 21 new citizens.

Judge Weber said he "probably was emotional about it Friday when I welcomed the new citizens."

Psychologist At Lisbon Gets Association Post

LISBON — Cornell P. Monda, psychologist for Lisbon schools, has been named public relations chairman of the Northeastern Ohio Psychologists' Association.

Miss Kay Hattell, psychologist for the Youngstown schools and president of the NEOPA, made the appointment at a meeting of the group Tuesday night at the Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown.

Monda has named Miss Thelma Johnston of Youngstown and Mrs. D. W. Hall of Boardman to his committee.

Five speakers discussed an individual psychological test to be utilized for measurement of specific factors such as intelligence and personality of persons afflicted by cerebral palsy, deafness or brain damage.

Greater Cincinnati Safe

Three Nike Missile Bases Put Into Operation In Ohio

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A flip of a switch Wednesday night put Nike missile bases here and at Oxford and Felicity, Ohio, and Dillsboro, Ind., into operation and tied them in with the North American defense network.

Lt. Col. Charles R. Arvin, commanding officer of the Fifth Missile Battalion, said:

Col. Arvin told Air Force and Army officers, and officials from Clinton County, that no aggressor now could get within 500 miles of the area without being seen on the radar screen and subsequently being "killed" by one of the Nike missiles.

He said the missiles stored at the four bases are capable of carrying nuclear warheads but he added, "I cannot confirm or deny if we have any on the base."

Col. Murray A. Bywater, commander of the Strategic Air Command of nearby Clinton County Air Force Base, said he had recently witnessed Nike operation and saw two planes being downed in practice runs.

Capt. Marvin H. Gibbs, air defense operational officer, put on a step-by-step operation ending in the "splash hit" on an enemy plane north of Cincinnati.

Radio and telephone communications among pilots and crewmen from the four local bases and from Ft. Knox, Ky., plotted the "enemy" plane every two minutes as it moved toward the local target area at speeds estimated at more than 600 miles an hour.

Capt. Gibbs said that when there is an announcement of any heavy movement of an "aggressor" air force, a three-hour alert is put into effect at the Wilmington site. As the situation becomes more serious this goes into one-hour, 30-minute, 15-minute and then five-minute alerts.

As soon as the plane was visually sighted, its position and other data were fed into a computing machine. In turn the relative position of the missile was put into the computer.

"Within seconds the missile and the plane are infallibly linked so that the end result will be the complete demolition of the plane when the two make contact," Capt. Gibbs said.

The local base has a radar pickup area flanked by Washington, D.C. in the east and St. Louis in the west. To the north is Detroit and south to Chattanooga, Tenn., Capt. Gibbs said.

Cleveland Sifts 'Boatel' Idea With 2 Cruise Ships Available

CLEVELAND (AP)—A "boatel" on Cleveland's lakefront?

William J. Rogers, director of the Department of Port Control, says his office has been asked about the possibility of dock space for one of the cruise ships.

He said the query came from Sam Abrams of the Ohio Advertising Co. Abrams reportedly was speaking for a group which is toying with the idea of converting each of the vessels into a 300-room floating hotel, one for Cleveland and one for Chicago.

The vessels are the Santa Paula and the Santa Rosa, both in excellent condition after being refurbished at great expense a few years ago. Because of certain provisions of the Maritime Administration subsidy program, the government will not permit Grace to operate the ships, and they must be sold.

Unfortunately, said Rogers, there seems to be no place for a "boatel" on Cleveland's waterfront.

"Then we must consider that the navigable waters of Lake Erie are held by the state of Ohio in trust for the federal government. That means the state must authorize a permit for use of the waterways."

Only 7 Jurors Seated In Ohio Murder Trial

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Only seven jurors have been tentatively seated from 122 prospects questioned for duty in the first-degree murder trial of Billy Joe Schaffer. Opposition to capital punishment excused 110 of those questioned.

Four Robbers Are Hunted

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies and state highway patrolmen continued a hunt today for four men who robbed a Van Wert County farmer's home of about $18,000 Wednesday.

The four entered the home of Frank Brenneman, 67, under the pretense of having car trouble. Once inside they tied up Brenneman, his wife, Hazel, 67, and her father, Monroe Opelt, 90, then ransacked the house.

Shortly after being called sheriff's deputies found tools believed used to break a safe at the house and later a gun which they said probably was used by one of the men.

Sheriff W. L. Clay said it appeared to be "a very neat job," well planned. The men opened the safe in about 20 minutes. Three diamond rings also were taken.

Police said that when the men stopped and asked for aid Brenneman looked at the supposedly stalled vehicle, then admitted two of the men to his house to call a garage.

The pair drew revolvers and their companions also entered. They bound the three occupants with wire and socks. No one was harmed.

The robbers were described as dark - complexioned. They spoke with a foreign accent and were about 35 to 40 years old.

The quartet fled in the "stalled" auto described as an old model with light top and yellow body. First two digits of the license were "33," the victims said.

Detectives Kill Man Trying To Rob Liquor Store

CLEVELAND (AP) — A young man trying to break into a state liquor store at 5607 Woodland Ave. was shot and killed by detectives early today.

He was identified by police as Feldon Rogers, 21, address unknown.

Police said Rogers had torn off a window screen at the rear of the store and was preparing to break the window when he was surprised by two detectives making a routine check.

The officers fired a warning shot when Rogers started to run. He was felled by a second shot when he ignored the command to halt. The bullet hit him in the right side.

There have been 12 liquor store burglaries here since the first of the year. The Woodland Avenue store was a frequent target, having been burglarized twice within a 40-hour period.

"IT WAS an agreeable Bob Hope who acceded to the judgment of the NBC censor with respect to a Jack Paar joke in his show last week a taped program.

The network has taken issue with the words "got loaded" in Hope's description of the Paar walkout ("He walked off the show, got loaded, went home to Bronxville," etc.).

"We changed the line," said Hope, "to 'got a cab,' and it didn't hurt the gag at all. But NBC was so nervous about the whole thing. They even wanted me to phone Paar about it while he was in Los Angeles. I didn't see any reason to do that. The guy's got enough troubles. Besides, there was no malice in the joke.

"All I can say is, 'Thank God for Jack Paar!' He's given television the outstanding spectacular of the season. He's different. He's exciting. Next to him, Bette Davis looks like a flower girl."

SINGER Andy Williams, relegated to summer television in recent seasons, will have an April outing in an NBC special (April 16). . . .

What promises to be an excellent feature for young viewers will be introduced March 19 by "The Howdy Doody Show." To interest children in reading books for enjoyment, the show's star (Bob Smith) will recommend a group of books specially selected by the National Television Children's Book Committee, five books a month.

THE TROUBLE-RIDDEN television industry received information from an Elmo Roper study that augurs better times ahead. To wit, public opinion of television is on the upbeat.

Roper's educated opinion: "I have no doubt that, barring some other disclosures of other kinds of misconduct, the number of people critical of television will be reduced six months or a year from now."

Stark Judge Raps Bar, Plans Fight Of Disbarment

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Judge Paul G. Weber, under fire from the Stark County Bar Assn., says he will "fight disbarment with everything I have."

The judge attacked the bar Wednesday for making public its plans. He said this violated a rule of practice of the Ohio Supreme Court which required such matters to be kept private until filed in the Supreme Court.

The 61-year-old common pleas judge said he has "never been called before the bar or ever received any notice from them as to any matter involving myself.

"The burden of proof is on them," he added.

Association president J. Leland Kerstetter of nearby Louisville said a committee has been appointed to determine whether disbarment proceedings will be started "on the grounds of misconduct in office." He did not elaborate.

The action apparently stemmed from an incident Friday in which court observers said the judge "created a scene" during naturalization ceremonies for 21 new citizens.

Judge Weber said he "probably was emotional about it Friday when I welcomed the new citizens."

Psychologist At Lisbon Gets Association Post

LISBON — Cornell P. Monda, psychologist for Lisbon schools, has been named public relations chairman of the Northeastern Ohio Psychologists' Association.

Miss Kay Hattell, psychologist for the Youngstown schools and president of the NEOPA, made the appointment at a meeting of the group Tuesday night at the Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown.

Monda has named Miss Thelma Johnston of Youngstown and Mrs. D. W. Hall of Boardman to his committee.

Five speakers discussed an individual psychological test to be utilized for measurement of specific factors such as intelligence and personality of persons afflicted by cerebral palsy, deafness or brain damage.

Greater Cincinnati Safe

Three Nike Missile Bases Put Into Operation In Ohio

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A flip of a switch Wednesday night put Nike missile bases here and at Oxford and Felicity, Ohio, and Dillsboro, Ind., into operation and tied them in with the North American defense network.

Lt. Col. Charles R. Arvin, commanding officer of the Fifth Missile Battalion, said:

Col. Arvin told Air Force and Army officers, and officials from Clinton County, that no aggressor now could get within 500 miles of the area without being seen on the radar screen and subsequently being "killed" by one of the Nike missiles.

He said the missiles stored at the four bases are capable of carrying nuclear warheads but he added, "I cannot confirm or deny if we have any on the base."

Col. Murray A. Bywater, commander of the Strategic Air Command of nearby Clinton County Air Force Base, said he had recently witnessed Nike operation and saw two planes being downed in practice runs.

For the first time a civilian audience was permitted to enter the "top secret" plotting room and witness a simulated enemy attack as plotted on a large plastic map of the North American continent.

Capt. Marvin H. Gibbs, air defense operational officer, put on a step-by-step operation ending in the "splash hit" on an enemy plane north of Cincinnati.

Radio and telephone communications among pilots and crewmen from the four local bases and from Ft. Knox, Ky., plotted the "enemy" plane every two minutes as it moved toward the local target area at speeds estimated at more than 600 miles an hour.

Capt. Gibbs said that when there is an announcement of any heavy movement of an "aggressor" air force, a three-hour alert is put into effect at the Wilmington site. As the situation becomes more serious this goes into one-hour, 30-minute, 15-minute and then five-minute alerts.

As soon as the plane was visually sighted, its position and other data were fed into a computing machine. In turn the relative position of the missile was put into the computer.

"Within seconds the missile and the plane are infallibly linked so that the end result will be the complete demolition of the plane when the two make contact," Capt. Gibbs said.

The local base has a radar pickup area flanked by Washington, D.C. in the east and St. Louis in the west. To the north is Detroit and south to Chattanooga, Tenn., Capt. Gibbs said.

Cleveland Sifts 'Boatel' Idea With 2 Cruise Ships Available

CLEVELAND (AP)—A "boatel" on Cleveland's lakefront?

Why not, what with a couple of 18-million-dollar Grace Line cruise ships available at a mere one million dollars each.

William J. Rogers, director of the Department of Port Control, says his office has been asked about the possibility of dock space for one of the cruise ships.

He said the query came from Sam Abrams of the Ohio Advertising Co. Abrams reportedly was speaking for a group which is toying with the idea of converting each of the vessels into a 300-room floating hotel, one for Cleveland and one for Chicago.

The vessels are the Santa Paula and the Santa Rosa, both in excellent condition after being refurbished at great expense a few years ago. Because of certain provisions of the Maritime Administration subsidy program, the government will not permit Grace to operate the ships, and they must be sold.

Unfortunately, said Rogers, there seems to be no place for a "boatel" on Cleveland's waterfront.

"I don't know where we'd find the space," he said. "Further, no space is leased except on a competitive basis.

"Then we must consider that the navigable waters of Lake Erie are held by the state of Ohio in trust for the federal government. That means the state must authorize a permit for use of the waterways."

Only 7 Jurors Seated In Ohio Murder Trial

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Only seven jurors have been tentatively seated from 122 prospects questioned for duty in the first-degree murder trial of Billy Joe Schaffer. Opposition to capital punishment excused 110 of those questioned.

The 24-year-old ex-convict is accused of the 1958 strangling of Mrs. Emma Remy, his former school teacher, in a 28-cent robbery. Authorities say he admitted the strangling and setting fire to her house.

Four Robbers Are Hunted

The four entered the home of Frank Brenneman, 67, under the pretense of having car trouble. Once inside they tied up Brenneman, his wife, Hazel, 67, and her father, Monroe Opelt, 90, then ransacked the house.

Shortly after being called sheriff's deputies found tools believed used to break a safe at the house and later a gun which they said probably was used by one of the men.

Sheriff W. L. Clay said it appeared to be "a very neat job," well planned. The men opened the safe in about 20 minutes. Three diamond rings also were taken.

Police said that when the men stopped and asked for aid Brenneman looked at the supposedly stalled vehicle, then admitted two of the men to his house to call a garage.

The pair drew revolvers and their companions also entered. They bound the three occupants with wire and socks. No one was harmed.

The robbers were described as dark - complexioned. They spoke with a foreign accent and were about 35 to 40 years old.

The quartet fled in the "stalled" auto described as an old model with light top and yellow body. First two digits of the license were "33," the victims said.

Detectives Kill Man Trying To Rob Liquor Store

CLEVELAND (AP) — A young man trying to break into a state liquor store at 5607 Woodland Ave. was shot and killed by detectives early today.

He was identified by police as Feldon Rogers, 21, address unknown.

Police said Rogers had torn off a window screen at the rear of the store and was preparing to break the window when he was surprised by two detectives making a routine check.

The officers fired a warning shot when Rogers started to run. He was felled by a second shot when he ignored the command to halt. The bullet hit him in the right side.

Police said Rogers was on probation after pleading guilty to a charge of automobile theft.

There have been 12 liquor store burglaries here since the first of the year. The Woodland Avenue store was a frequent target, having been burglarized twice within a 40-hour period.

Crum Caught Again In Bid To Flee Jail

The 32-year-old man who escaped at gunpoint from city jail in Wilmington last week, and was captured 55 hours later, was caught at it again Wednesday.

Sheriff Walter Reffitt of Highland County, found that Crum had chipped out several bricks beneath a window in the washroom of the jail here. He also had tampered with the lock opening the cell block door.

Following questioning, Crum, who has been charged with two kidnapings and other crimes, was removed to the jail at West Union.

Crum, who escaped last week at gunpoint, shot two policemen in his flight, and held another man with a pistol at his head for two hours, finally submitted to capture last Saturday at Cherry Fork. At that time he said he would not try to escape again.

"Boys, I just don't like it here," Crum replied.

He had had freedom of a five-cell block and corridor. At West Union, he was confined in a single cell.

Crum is scheduled to be arraigned in West Union Friday on charges of kidnaping Wilbur Trotter, former mayor of Manchester, and William Shelton, a son-in-law of Trotter.

He sized them and forced them to drive him to Cherry Fork Saturday. He released Shelton, but held a pistol at Trotter's head for two hours when police surrounded the car. He demanded that he be allowed to drive away in exchange for Trotter's release. After a lot of talk, he then submitted to capture.

In addition to the kidnaping, Crum has against him one charge of shooting to kill, three of breaking and entering, and one of automobile theft. He pleaded guilty to two other charges of breaking and entering and automobile theft.

Widely Known Radio Minister Dies At 49

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Rev. Morris Coers, 49, Baptist minister who raised the money to build a replica of Christ's tomb and the surrounding garden here, died Wednesday.

Death of the widely known radio minister apparently was due to a heart attack. His wife found him dead when she went to awaken him from an afternoon nap.

Council Makes Apology For Students' Actions

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The undergraduate council of Allegheny College has issued a public apology for a student demonstration that cut short a religious rally on the campus.

A number of the 700 to 800 students who attended the service Monday night started to whistle and boo, and forced the Rev. Rex Humbard of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, to walk off a stage at the David Mead Fieldhouse.

4 More Bodies Found

BERLIN (AP)—Four more bodies were recovered today from the fire-filled Karl Marx Coal Mine in East Germany. Almost no hope was held for 75 miners still trapped. A gas explosion touched off a fire Monday while 172 men were working 3,520 feet underground. Fifty-one miners were dragged out alive, but two of these died later. The known dead total 48.

Ship Radio Operator Denies He Murdered Pretty Divorcee

BOSTON (AP) — Willem Van Rie, 31, wireless operator of a Dutch ship, today continues testimony which he hopes will free him of a charge—punishable by death—that he murdered a pretty passenger on the high seas.

The prosecution alleges Van Rie beat divorcee Lynn Kauffman, 23, and threw her to death in Boston harbor as the freighter Utrecht resumed a 44-day voyage from Singapore Sept. 18. Her body was found next day on an island in the harbor.

A half hour of the testimony was a voluble and sometimes emotional description of a brain washing he claimed he received in a Brooklyn, N.Y., police station, where he was arrested on a murder complaint.

He said relays of officers verbally "pounded, pounded, pounded" throughout the night of Sept. 29-30 until in desperation he gave a false statement.

In this he is represented as saying he went to Lynn's cabin as the Utrecht slid out of Boston harbor and they quarreled over her possible pregnancy. (An autopsy showed she was not pregnant.)

This happened, the statement said, when Lynn came at him in anger after he laughed when she inquired what he would do if she were prgnanet.

Van Rie insisted he told the polic the statement was false and that he made it only in the hope of getting back to the Utrecht to obtain proof he could not have been involved in her death.

Subpoenas Issued In Protests Of Decoy Candidates

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cuyahoga County Board of Elections has issued subpoenas for about 30 persons to appear here Friday at a hearing into protests against alleged decoy candidates for Democratic presidential convention delegate.

The subpoenas were requested by Charles R. Miller, attorney for two candidates on Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's delegate slate. Miller's clients are the former U.S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke and Margaret A. Mahoney, state director of industrial relations.

The protests are aimed at the candidacy of Thomas P. Burke, an employe in the county auditor's office, and Elizabeth M. Mahony.

Miller contends their petitions were not circulated according to law and that T. P. Burke is not a resident of the district he wants to represent as a convention delegate.

In three Cleveland districts the delegate race has been entered by candidates with names similar to those of DiSalle candidates. Ray T. Miller Sr., Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman, also has entered a slate of candidates. He has dnied responsibility for the "like-name" entries.

State To Open Bids On Downriver Projects

Bids will be opened Tuesday by the State Highway Department in Columbus for improvements to State Route 7 in Monroe County.

One project calls for adding 2 lanes near the intersection with Route 536. The improvement will be eight-tenths of a mile long and will form a safe approach to West Virginia's new Ohio River bridge now under construction, officials said. It is estimated at $450,000.

The second project, a 4 - mile improvement near Clarington is expected to cost $2,280,000. Completion is scheduled Oct. 31, 1960.

Considerate Thief

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A thief jacked up the car of George Richardson Wednesday and stole a new tire. He didn't leave Richardson in the lurch, however. The thief replaced the new tire with a worn but usable retread.

Her Husband Certainly Didn't Practice Name

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adrienne Grey, a model, went to court Wednesday seeking temporary alimony pending trial of her suit for separate maintenance.

She said her husband beat her, hit her with a shoe, was unfaithful with 15 other women and took her jewelry away the day before Valentine's Day. She also told the judge she was so fearful of her husband that she gave his five rifles, two pistols and ammunition to her lawyer for safekeeping.

Her husband's name: Marvin R. Goodwill.

That Miss Tregoff Innocent

Carole's Lawyer Suggests Dr. Finch Murdered Wife

By DIAL TORGERSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carole Tregoff's attorney has painted a hypothetical picture suggesting her surgeon lover could be guilty of murdering his wife but that Carole is innocent.

Some observers saw the lawyer's imaginary anecdote for the jury Wednesday—in which he did not mention Dr. R. Bernard Finch by name—as a last-ditch effort to save Carole even at the doctor's expense.

Carole's counsel, Robert A. Neeb, who resumes his summation today, began by citing a hypothetical example that paralleled circumstances of the slaying:

"Supposing that I — somebody perhaps I knew — had a tenant in a store and he wanted me to take him there and I agree.

"And supposing I furnish the automobile. Let us suppose I furnish the gasoline. Maybe I took him to dinner.

"Maybe I lent him some money, and I drove him to the scene of the place, and when I did, I knew that he was mad at his tenant, and they were having trouble. And he told me he was going to have it out with the tenant.

"And supposing he had a paper bag with him somewhere in my car and he said, 'Now, here we are. Let's go in. I'm going to have trouble with this fellow.' And he says, 'Bring the paper bag in.'

"And I bring it in, and he gets into an argument — he gets into an altercation, and maybe it turns out there is a weapon in the bag, and the tenant gets shot.

"Am I guilty of murder? No, I am not, because I didn't have a knowledgeful, intentional participation in the event which was unlawful.

"You have to answer this question in this case, as far as Carole Tregoff is concerned.

"Unless you believe ... that when the car was moving from Las Vegas to West Covina ... Carole Tregoff had in her mind an intent to kill, she is entitled to an acquittal of the charge of murder in this case."

Finch and Miss Tregoff drove in her car from Las Vegas, Nev., to the Finch house the night of the slaying. They say they went there to discuss a divorce with Mrs. Finch. The doctor testified the gun discharged accidentally as he tried to throw it away after snatching it from his wife.

Carole testified she carried the doctor's attache case, called a "murder kit" by the prosecution, from the car to the Finch house because it contained a flashlight the doctor wanted. Finch says the case, containing a carving knife, hypodermics, sleep-inducing drugs and other items, was one he was preparing for use on emergency calls.

Hunt Farm Escapee

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — State highway patrolmen began a manhunt in this area Wednesday night for Herbert W. Larmore, 28, who walked away from the London Prison Farm at about 8:30 p.m. He had been sentenced to the farm from Greene County on a breaking and entering conviction, the patrol said.

Enlightenment Can Set You Free

Can you ferret out what is "eating away at you" that you want to eat so much? Inside is the starting point. When you can trace the pattern and be alert to the superficial psychological factors that turn you to excessive eating, you're on the inside track.

By Ida Jean Kain

The most effective effort is based on understanding of what kind of effort is needed. You can do a great deal for yourself when you are aware of the possibilities. This calls for honest fact-facing on your part, plus a willingness to make the effort.

However, when the underlying cause is deeply buried and obscure, you will need help. A great deal can be accomplished by talking out your problem with a professionally trained person. In large cities there are mental hygiene clinics. The social worker can help you evaluate and suggest a course of action.

WHEN THERE is an emotional conflict behind your urge to overeat, it is necessary to understand yourself and gain needed insight. Enlightened, you will be set free. Then you can take constructive action and apply the science of nutrition. You will of course need to change your food habits, otherwise your habitually enlarged appetite and fattening ways will continue.

The following success letter from a former compulsive eater is enlightening: "Like many of your readers I was always going to reduce 'some day.' When I hit 218 pounds I got scared and that forced me to act.

"It was a long, tough struggle until I discovered why I was a compulsive eater. I had to go to a psychiatrist for other reasons and my eating habits came up for discussion. Once I found out why I overate, it became possible for me to stay on a reducing course.

"I am now down to 140 pounds, with these measurements: Bust 36, waist 28, hips 40. I wear a size 14. I feel healthier and livelier than ever before and I look better than I did at 25. Here is the diet on which I lost from 1 to 2 pounds a week:

Breakfast

Fruit juice, 4 oz.; 1 egg, cooked without fat; slice of toast, lightly buttered; glass of skim milk, 8 oz. and Vitamin A & D capsule.

Luncheon

Lean meat sandwich, two thin slices bread - no butter; relishes, carrot, celery or cucumber; fruit; skim milk (brought to work in thermos).

Dinner

"It's so wonderful to discard those dull, dark size 22's for gay colors. I'm proud of myself and only wish I had reduced years ago."

Juveniles Jailed For Lack Of State Institution Room

Because the state institution for juvenile offenders at Pruneytown is filled to capacity, six teen-agers have been lodged in the Hancock County Jail in New Cumberland for about six weeks, awaiting committment to the center to begin serving reformatory terms.

The youngsters, ranging from 11 to 16, are being held for parole violation and numerous breaking and entering cases, according to authorities.

Panel To Be Featured At No. 16 PTA Session

A panel discussion pertaining to the future of the school will feature the program of the No. 16 Parent-Teacher Association Friday night at 8 in the Yellow Creek Township School.

School board members will participate in the question-and-answer period and a Founder's Day skit will be presented by a group of parents.

The Rev. Joseph Varner of the Bethel Presbyterian Church will conduct devotions. Lunch will be served by homeroom mothers of the second and third grades taught by Mrs. Martha Serafy. Mrs. Marie Wickham and Mrs. Thelma Corbin are co-chairmen.
